ENGLAND SEEKS LEAGUE CONTROL OF DARDANELLES

Only Desire is to Insure Freedom of Straits Says Lloyd George

TO PROTECT EUROPE

Premier Declares Britains Object is to Preserve Peace of Europe

Portsmouth, Eng., Sept. 23.—Intense excitement was aroused here today by a report that a British warship had been sunk in the Dardanelles. England's biggest naval base is located here.

London, Sept. 23.—Official denial of the loss of a British warship in the Dardanelles was issued by the admiralty this afternoon.

London, Sept. 23—Premier Lloyd George, speaking for the British empire, declared this afternoon that the government is opposed to war in the near esat. He proposed that the freedom of the Turkish straits be guaranteed by placing them under the auspices of the league of nations.

The premier's statement, which was given to the world at the first audience Mr. Lloyd George has tendered to the journalists since the great war says:

"The object of Great Britain's military action in the near east does not concern the future of Anatolia or Thrace. The object of Britain's military action is to insure freedom of the Turkish straits and prevent war from spreading into Europe.

"Great Britain does not want to make a Gibraltar of Chanak. Great Britain desires that the league of nations insure freedom of the Turkish staits for all nations.

"We are not going back on anything we have said. Peace must be established. Peace is our motive. It is essential that we hold Chanak in order to secure the freedom of the Turkish straits for unarmed ships. We want the straits to be held, however, under the auspics of the league of nations.

"We want the straits controlled in the interests of all the nations.

"We must try to prevent the prairie fire which devastated Asia from crossing into Europe and lightning the dry tinder of the Balkans. We have every reason to fear the terrible incidents of Turkish massacres if it spreads into Europe. There is no knowing what may happen unless the conflagration is arrested.

"It is essential to the peace of the world that effective guarantees be obtained securing the freedom of the straits."

Premier Lloyd George returned this morning from his country home to preside at a meeting of the cabinet to discuss the allied note drawn up by the British, French, Italian and Jugo-Slav delegates at Paris.

It was reported that the government has received an important communication from Sir Henry Lamb, British high commissioner at Constantinople bearing upon peace in the near east. The premier consented to give an audience to all the press representatives this afternoon for the first time since the war.

Turkish troops, according to near east advices have begun to concentrate in the region of Ismid, south of Constantinople It is believed here that if hostilities break out—which many officials believe is unlikely—Kemal's war plans would indicate attacks against the Bitish at Chanak and Ismid and an uprising by moslems in Constantinople and Thrace.

Word was received that the entrenchments constructed by the British at Chanak are being extended. Turkish cavalry has reached Adramyti. The troops, went forward and conferred with the British officer stationed in the neutral zone to determine the exac boundary of the zone.

There is no official confirmation of a rumor from Paris that it had been agreed to send Italian and French forces to Chanak to assist the English.

About fifty lives were lost when the German liner Hammonia, of the Hamburg-America line, sank in a gale off the coast of Portugal. The British ships Kinfauls Castle, Euclid and Soldier Prince took part in the rescue. The photograph shows strikingly the sinking of the vessel, with the rescue ships standing by, together with some of those rescued by the Kinfauls Castle and taken to Southhampton.

AUTO BUS RUNS DOWN COLORED MAN SATURDAY

James Payne, 80, Seriously Injured at Main and Evans streets

Uncle James Payne, colored, of Church and Taylor Streets, believed to be more than 80 years of age, is in a serious condition at the Espey Hospital, where he was taken after he had been knocked down and run over by a Packard touring car used as a Wilmington-Xenia bus near Main and Evans Streets Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

One wheel of the heavy machine passed over the man's right arm, tearing the flesh away from the bone below the elbow, and causing considerable loss of blood which makes his case serious. He also received a severe blow on the forehead over the left eye.

The Wilmington bus, driven by Lewis Wolf, Wilmington, and occupied also by Charles Duncan, colored, of Wilmington, was backing out of Evans Avenue, when the accident occurred. The aged man, who was very feeble, was walking in the street, and the driver did not see him, or know that he had struck the man until bystanders shouted to him. Wolf said he was backing the car out slowly.

The colored man was thrown to the street, causing the bump over his left eye, but his body was thrown clear of the machine, the wheel only passing over his arm, the weight of the car crushing the flesh from his arm. Numerous stitches were taken by Dr. Paul Espey to close the wound, and hospital attaches said Saturday afternoon that he was resting comfortably. He was brought to the hospital in a Ford car by Lee Robertson, colored, of 616 East Main Street and Duncan. Because of the blood he lost before receiving medical attention and due to his advanced age, the injury is considered serious.

The aged victim lived alone at the corner of Church and Taylor Streets. He formerly conducted a small store near there.

FORTY TWO ARE INDICTED IN PROBE OF HERRIN TROUBLE

Grand Jury Holds Two Score On Murder Charge

Marion, Ill. Sept. 23.—The special grand jury investigating the Herrin massacre of last June in which twenty two were slain in rioting during the coal strike returned forty-two indictments for murder today.

The jury in completing its work, also handed down 58 indictments for conspiracy to commit murder; 58 indictments for rioting and 54 indictments for assult with intent to murder.

WILL RAID FOREIGN SHIPS HAVING LIQUOR

Attempt to Clear American Waters of Rum Smugglers Started—Utilize Customs Laws Outside Three-Mile Limit.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Raids upon all ships of foreign registry suspected of having illegal liquor stocks aboard within the 12 mile limit were ordered today by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes. The order means a more ambitious attempt than ever before attempted to clear American waters of smugglers. The prohibition navy has been promised additional support from the coast guard.

On all prohibition boats a customs officer will be aboard as executive officer. Haynes said that while provisions of the Volstead act do not warrant searches by prohibition enforcers outside the three mile limit, the customs laws are suffciently broad to accomplish the same object, as long as a customs official is present to demand manifests of foreign ships.

The new campaign ordered by Haynes probably will increase the number of cases of seizure, the right of which is disputed by the British government and other foreign powers. The British are taking the lead in opposing the present course of the American government. Thus far Ambassador Geddes has refused to admit that anything in international law justifies the seizure of vessels flying the Brtish flag by ths govment's prohibition agents, outside the 3 mile zone.

Commissioner Haynes claimed today that the activity of his forces against the illicit liquor inporters had reduced smuggling about sixty six per cent in the last year. He said he is willing to take the chances of further controversy with foreign powers, feeling satisfied that the American law is broad enough to warrant the course adopted. He said, however, that prohibition agents generally are satisfied that an offense is being committed before attempting seizure.

BOOTLEGGERS GET GRAIN ALCOHOL AS AUTHORITIES FOOLED

Federal Officials Announce Running to Earth of Conspiracy

Cleveland, Sept. 23—Approximately 400,000 gallons of grain alcohol ostensibly released for the manufacture of hair tonic, found its way into the hands of bootleggers at prices of from $12 to $17 per gallon, representing a total profit of $5,000,000 to the Conspirators, federal officials said here today in announcing the arrest of Max Horn, manager of an east side drug store, as the third figure in an alleged conspiracy to violate the Volstead law.

Abraham and Louis Auerbach were arrested early yesterday, the latter in New York and the former at his Cleveland home, charged with being the principals in what is said to be the most colossal scheme to violate the prohibition law yet unearthed here.

Abraham Auerbach, after spending several hours in the custoday of federal officials, was released on bond of $50,000, which was signed by Mrs. Louis Auerbach, who offered real estate valued at $102,000 as security, and Mrs. Esther Limbert, who qualified as a realty owner of $50,000. Louis Auerbach, taken in New York, is said to be a bankrupt.

The Auerbach brothers are said to have been engaged as barbers prior to the advent of prohibition.

THEATER DISASTER AT PITTSBURGH IS NOW INVESTIGAED

One Killed and Fifty Injured in East End Crash

Pittsburgh, Sept. 23.—Investigation into the collapse of the entrance of the New Strand Motion Picture house yesterday afternoon as the result of which one child was killed, several others seriously injured and two score less painfully hurt, were in progress today.

Madeline Kunkle, 12, died of internal injuries immediately after being taken to the Pittsburgh hospital. William Stormer, 6, received a fractured skull and is not expected to live.

That the support of the concrete entrance depended too much on wooden planks instead of steel girders was the opinion of Robert Cochran, superintendent of the city bureau of building inspection, after a preliminary examination of the collapsed entrance today. The wood supports were found to be rotten and brown with age.

A peculiarly ironic feature of the crash was that imbedded in the wreckage was a poster, lithographed and entitled "The Trap."

WOMEN SUSPECTED OF DOUBLE MURDER

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 23.—A theory that the double murder of the Rev. Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall, wealthy rector of the fashionable Protestant Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist and his choir leader, Mrs. James Mills, was planned and exeuted by church women was engaging the full attention of the Somerset County authorities today.

The activities of three locally prominent woman—two of them married—on the night of the murder are being investigated. All are members of the congregation of the slain pastor's church. It is known that there was a jalous feud among these women, and it is declared that feeling had reached such a high pitch that "anything was possible."

It is reported that the county authorities are considering the advisability of exhuming the bodies of Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills to make a more thorough examination. The authorities are not certain that only one weapon was used in killing the clergyman and his choir leader and it is now suggested that an examination be made to determine whether the bullets which killed the couple were of the same calibre.

COUNTRY WANTS LONG RESPITE FROM CONGRESS

President Believes Nation Tired of Effects of New Laws

RETURN TO NORMALCY

Old System of Winter Sessions Is Now Planned.

Washington, Sept. 23—For the first time since he entered the White House eighteen months ago, President Harding looked forward today to a long period of legislative quietude, with no congress on his hands to bring its troubles and problems to the executive door step.

With the exception of short recess periods, congress has been almost in continuous session since the beginning of the Republican administration and the departure of members today to, take part in the campaign affords the president the longest rest he has had from legislative worries. Mr. Harding is understood to have told friends that it is "a grand and glorious feeling."

President Harding has informed congressional leaders, however, that he wants congress to come back to Washington immediately after the elections on Nov. 7, in order that all appropriation bills and necessary legislative matters, can be cleaned up by Mach 4, next.

The president is understood to have informed congressional leaders that he does not want congress in session next summer, and that he sees no reason why the sixty-eighth congress which takes office on March 4, should be called to Washington before the regular December session of 1923.

President Harding has expressed the belief to his friends that the country generally "wants a rest from congress,' and the disturbing effects of new laws and agitation for legislation of every conceivable kind. He believes the "return to normalcy" embraces a return to the old system of having congress in Washington in the winter for the transaction of necessary business and at home in the summer—a system that prevailed generally prior to the war.

In the light of this policy on the part of the executive, house leaders are laying plans to make the session which will begin in November the last one before the assembling of the new sixty-eighth congress in December 1923. To accomplish this, the last session of the sixty-seventh congress must move smoothly to get out necessary legislation.

Rep. Madden, Republican of Illinois, chairman of the appropriations committee announced he would assemble his committee on Nov. 10 to whip into shape the 1923-1924 appropriation bills, work on which already has been started. The budget bureau, under the direction of H. H. Lord, has asked the departments and bureaus for early estimates on needs.

TEMPORARY INJUNCTION AGAINST RAIL WORKERS SUSTAINED BY COURT

In One of Most Important Decisions Ever Handed Down to Organized Labor, U. S. Judge J. H. Wilkerson Maintains Court Ruling.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—In the most important decision ever handed down to organized labor in federal court U. S. Judge James K. Wilkerson today sustained the temporary writ of injunction secured by the government against the striking rail workers.

The decision took 36 hours for preparation and was read to a packed court room shortly after 11 o'clock this morning. Attorney for the defense who battled vainly against the drastic injunction and the government's attorneys who had presented a mass of affidavits to sustain their contention that a conspiracy to obstruct interstate commerce existed leaned forward anxiously to listen to the judge read from his closely typewritten pages the decision that would lave a permanent effect upon organized labor in the United States.

It was intimated around the Court today as federal Judge James H. Wilkerson began reading his decision on the rail strike injunction that the government's motion to make the injuncion permenent would be granted Early in the reading of his decision, Judge Wilkerson cited authorities to show that the court had the authority questioned by counsel for the shopmen to act as a court of equity and grant an injunction.

Three Attacks Will Be Launched At Daugherty

Attorney General Will Be "Put on Rack" in November Session of Congress as Cabinet Officer Seldom Has Before This Time.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty will be "put on the rack" in the November session of congress as a cabinet officer seldom has been before, his opponents declared today as congress melted away for a two months rest.

The attorney general will be attacked on three fronts as soon as congress reassembles, (1) through the impeachment proceedings brought by Rep. Keller, Republican, of Minnesota; (2) a proposed investigation of his alleged failure to prosecute war frauds, sponsored by Rep. Roy O. Woodruff, Republican of Michigan and (3) the labor and "liberal" element in congress will seek his scalp for the famous Chicago injunction against the rail strikers.

Senator Robert M. Lafollette, Republican of Wisconsin, asserted today that the campaign against Daugherty will not be allowed to die during the two months recess of congress.

"When Attorney General Daugherty secured an injunction from Judge Wilkerson to prevent working men from exercising their constitutional rights of peaceful assembly, freedom of speech and lawful use of their property, he used his high position and the great powers of a free government to illegally oppress American citizens," said Senator LaFollette.

"We are not through with Mr. Daugherty" the fiery Wisconsin senator added as he paused momentarily in his preparations to catch the next train "back home" where he is to renew his fight for the election in November of the entire LaFollette ticket.

"When congress reconvenes Mr. Daugherty will have a whole lot to answer for. His failure to prosecute the war graft cases is but one of many things he will be called upon to explain. I do not care to discuss the impeachment proceedings."

CULP SPENDS NIGHT IN GREENE COUNTY JAIL ONCE MORE

The Rev. W. W. Culp, fomer Spring Valley sky-pilot is busy as a bee familiarizing himself with two jails in this section of the state.

Culp who got himself in trouble through his romantic elopement with Esther Hughes, the village music teacher, June 14, spent his second night in the Greene County jail here Friday night.

The former preacher, arrested in Dayton Friday after his dismissal of a charge of moving mortgaged property was brought here at five o'clock Friday evening by Probation Oicer J. E. Watts to languish in the county bastile until Monday, when he will be given a hearing before Juvenile Judge J. Carl Marshall on a non support charge.

There was no welcoming crowd to meet the former pastor Friday night as there was when he was brought from Michigan in July. When Culp appears before Judge Marshall Monday it will be the second time he has appeared in that court. Judge Marshall sentenced him to a year in the Dayton Work House and fined him $500 and costs on an abandonment charge the first time. The present charge is just as serious. Culp was released from the works on the original case when the committing affidavit was held to be faulty.

Attorney Charles W. Folkert, Dayton, has received a letter from Rev. Mr. Culp's brother, De Wayne Culp, of Napanee, Ind., giving assurance that he would be provided with work in a furniture factory there if he obtained his liberty.

It also stated that Mrs. Culp and her children had arrived there and were awaiting the release of the minister.

FAIL TO LOCATE MEN WHO ROBBED WILBERFORCE SAFE

Believe Burglars Affected Escape In Automobile After Crime

Investigation of the robbery of the office of the C. N. & I. Department at Wilberforce University Thursday night, when between $3,000 and $4,000 was stolen from a safe, has so far been fruitless, say authorities. University officials, Friday, placed the loss at $2,000 to $3,000. Subsequent checking revealed a larger amount was taken.

Where tracks in the grass near the ravine adjacent to the university campus indicated that a motor had stood for some time, the bloodhounds used Friday by authorities in an attempt to trace the robbers, lost the trail after carrying it from the open window in Bundy Hall, through which the robbers made their escape, to the laundry building, then across the campus toward the ravine.

Authorities believe that the burglars made their escape in this car, which probably had been kept in waiting for them. No further clues have been discovered.

London, Oct. 23.—Leaders of the Tory, or Unionist party, met at the Hotel Cecil this afternoon to elect Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the party. Mr. Law insisted that such action be taken before he gave formal acceptance to the offer of the premiership tendered to him by King George.

The new premier addressed the conservatives, outlining the policy he would follow. It was anticipated that the meeting would be over by 4:30 and that Mr. Law would immediately go to Buckingham Palace.

While Mr. Law has been able to obtain some of the ministers he is not yet in a position to announce the complete personnel of the new cabinet.

Dissolution of Parliament will be delayed, perhaps until Thursday.

Former Premier David Lloyd George returned quietly to 10 Downing Street this morning to consult with some of his former ministers. His next speech will be delivered at Colchester on Thursday. Later he plans to return to Wales and Scotland.

Lloyd George visited Buckingham Palace early in the afternoon to say "farewell" to the king. TENEMENT FIRE IN NEW YORK FATAL TO FIFTEEN: INCENDIARY

Five Story Brick Building in East Side Destroyed—Blaze Starts in Baby Carriage Under Stairs In Lower Hall.

New York, Oct. 23.—Fifteen persons, most of them children, lost their lives in a fire, believed by city officials to be the work of a pyromaniac.

The flames swept with murderous suddenness from cellar to attic of a five-story brick tenement at Lexington avenue and 110th street, in the thickly populated East Side.

The blaze apparently started in a baby carriage under the stairs in the lower hall, under almost identical circumstances as the recent incendiary fire in an upper West Side apartment house, which resulted in seven deaths. So quickly did the flames shoot through the building that a number of the dead were found in bed, burned or suffocated, without the slightest opportunity to escape.

"Everything points to the fire being of incendiary origin," Assistant District Attorney Hennis, who is conducting an investigation, said.

Taxicab drivers, lounging in their machines at the curbings, turned 60-mile-an-hour Samaritans during the fire. Scores of them put their cabs at disposal of police in dispatching injured to hospitals. Later they were commandeered to bring relatives to the morgues, where the bodies of the dead were lying.

In one morgue Edward Pine hurried to the body of his fiancee, Sarah Silver, and identified it when others had failed to do so. A party had been planned in the flat, at which the engagement was to have been announced.

Miss Silver, survivors say, had once passed the danger point in the hallway, on her way to safety, when she returned to her room for her engagement ring. In a moment the flames blocked the corridor. Miss Silver jumped from a window. She died of a fractured skull.

Police estimate that 300 people lived in the five-story building. Many of them lost all they had in the fire.

Nathan Silver and four of his children were among the victims. Mrs. Silver escaped. Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Matilsky and Sidney and Catherine Sugarman, brother and sister of Mrs. Matilsky, also perished.

OTHER WOMEN IN LIFE OF PASTOR SAY AUTHORITIES

New York Woman Is Said to Have Been "Friend of Dr. Hall

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 23.—With the possibility of one or more grand jury indictments today or tomorrow the investigation into the double murder of Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, rector of the fashionable Protestant Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist and the beautiful choir leader, Mrs. James Mills, has veered into new channels today.

Evidence has been found indicating that Mrs. Mills was not the only woman in the life of the clergyman. It is learned that Hall sent a telegram to New York City to some woman who has not yet been identified reading:

"Will be at your apartment late this evening."

One theory was advanced that Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills may have had a meeting place in some woman's apartment in New York City. Another theory was that Dr. Hall was friendly with the New York woman and called upon her at times.

Women are coming to figure in the case more and more.

Raymond Schneider and Clifford Hayes who were in the vicinity of the Phillips farm on the night that the murder was committed—September 14—have told the Middlesex and Somerset county prosecutors that they saw one or more women whom they recognized as members of prominent New Brunswick families.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 23.—The state of New Jersey took a hand in clearing up the Hall-Mills murders when Attorney General Thomas McCran announced today that he had appointed Wilbur A. Mott, former prosecutor of Essex County, as special prosecutor in charge of the investigation into the murders.

The attorney general said that Supreme Court Justice Parker had requested him to "take over" the investigation and that he had done so.

"The department, while making every effort to prevent violations of the prohibition law also has striven for greater economy in expenditures," Haynes continued.

ADMINISTRATION MOVES AGAINST TAX FREE BONDS

Would Halt Issuance of This Form of Securities By Legislation.

TO PROPOSE PLAN

Congress Will Be Told Situation Demands Action.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Officials of the administration state that adoption of the pending resolution proposing a constitutional amendment putting an end to the issuing of tax-exemtp securities will be urged upon congress at its short session.

They declared the question of tax-free bonds was the most important, not alone of the national tax problem, but of some of the industrial ones as well.

It was indicated that the proposed legislation would have the full support of the administration. President Harding is expected to renew in his annual message to congress in December his recommendations for such a change in the organic law. Secretary Mellon and other treasury officials were prepared to reiterate their support of the resolution.

With capital in ever increasing quantities seeking investment in tax free securities, fiscal authorities said the situation had reached the point where a remedy not only was desirable, but necessary. Aside from the direct loss in taxation to both the federal and state governments, it was stated that normal development of industry was retarded through inability to attract wealth at anything like reasonable interest charges.

Another element in the situation upon which emphasis was laid is the inducement which it was claimed was held out to the municipalities and other subdivisions of the states to issue securities beyond their normal needs, thus piling up the already unnecessary burdens placed upon the taxpayers.

Treasury officers have estimated that for the past several years state and municipal bonds to the amount of $1,000,000,000 annually have been issued, with the total tax exempt bonds now outstanding around $12,000,000,000. Other estimates place the total as high as $15,000,000,000.

Aside from the proposal to end the issuing of nontaxable securities, recommendations with respect to taxation to be made to congress by Secretary Mellon in his forthcoming annual report were expected to be few and to deal largely with such changes in the existing law as have been found to be desirable through practical administration.

'TIGER WOMAN' IS NEAR COLLAPSE

The former show girl entered the courtroom today tired and visibly "on edge." According to jail gossip she was near a collapse over Sunday.

FEDERAL COURT UPHOLDS DAUGHERTY RULING ON SHIPS CARRYING LIQUOR

Judge Declares Volstead Act Gives U. S. Power to Impose Such Restrictions—Injunction Denied—Case Will Now Go to Supreme Court.

New York, Oct. 23.—The right of the federal government to forbid the carrying of liquors on ships of American registry and to prevent foreign owned ships from bringing liquor within the territorial waters of the United States was upheld today by Judge Learned Hand in the U. S. district court.

The ruling of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty declaring the carrying of liquor on American and foreign ships illegal, was upheld by Judge Hand. The jurist held that the Volstead act gave the government the power to impose such restrictions upon the maritime liquor traffic.

Judge Hand's decision carries with it a denial of the injunction asked by the Cunard Anchor French line and other steamship services which sought to have the internal revenue officials restrainsd from enforcing the regulations promulated by the treasury department on the basis of Attorney General Daugherty's ruling.

Judge Hand's decision however does not settle the fight as the steamship already have declared they will carry their fight to the U. S. supreme court for a final ruling.

Judge Hand ruled however that foreign ships might carry with them "on the east bound voyage" sufficient liquor to provide necessary rations for the crew. The foreign ships, in arguing for an injunction had contended that the question on board was "ships stores" and was an essential part of the rations provided for the crews.

This phase of the decision would prevent foreign ships leaving American ports from carrying a stock of liuquor for sale over the bar on the high seas to passengers aboard the vessels.

"So far as I can see," said Judge Hand, in his opinion, "in this case the plaintiff has no case. Therefore I will go no further than to issue an injunction against interfering with the carriage of a stock necessary for the crews rations on the east bound voyages.

"The plaintiffs must each give a bond, in the sum of $25,000 conditional against the use of such stocks for any other purpose than crews' rations.

The effect of this ruling, as interpreted by shipping men is that ships sailing to America from a foreign port may carry a stock of liquor for passengers to be sold at sea. They may not, however, bring this stock into American ports, and upon leaving the ports of the United States cannot carry a supply larger than is required for the needs of the crew.

Washington, Oct. 23.—The government will aid foreign ship lines in clearing up the question of their liquor rights by expediting a quick appeal of Judge Hand's decision to the United States Supreme Court, Prohibition Commission Haynes said today when informed of Judge Hand's decision.

"I anticipated the government would be upheld and we are ready to move expeditiously in getting the whole question before the supreme court," Haynes said. Meanwhile regulations enforcing the Daugherty opinion will go into effect. They will be ready in a few days."

BILLIONS PAID BY GOVERUMENT NOT RECOVERED

RECORDS DESTROYED

Department of Justice Declares Dishonesty Can't Be Proved.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Several billions of dollars paid out by the government on fraudulently made war contracts never will be recovered because in the thousands of cases representing those vast payments dishonesty and conspiracy cannot be proved, it was declared officially at the Department of Justice today.

The Department of Justice admits that profiteers in many instances in actual league with officials of the goverment covered up their tracks so well that government agents are now unable to clinch cases against them. Many of these cases involve War Department and Shipping Board contracts. In many instances the litigation has been brought to the grand jury stage, but has ended there with the discovery that lawyers for the defense had cleverly blocked action.

The attorney general's reports show however, that in the drive against profiteers, four hundred separate cases, many of them of great magnitude and representing hundreds of millions in money paid out wrongfully by the government are now undergoing process of liquidation, in civil or criminal actions in federal courts. The department predicts that most of these cases will be terminated successfully for the government with recovery of a substantial part of the sums involved.

The government's greatest loss on war contracts, the department declared resulted from improperly made contracts where in the interests of the government were not protected. There also were improvident settlements made by various government agencies including some of the independent agencies that were set up hurriedly by war necessity.

It now develops that in some of the more important cases which the government expects to press all records which might shed light on such transactions have been destroyed. In a considerable number of cases, it is suspected that men who then occupied important posts in government service conspired with contractors to destroy evidence of their wrong doing.

"Disclosures attending investigation indicate that hundreds of important contracts were entered into by the government with great corporations and manufacturers without proper examination of conditions and requirements," the department said.

"These contracts were made without the exercise of sound judgment, with carelessness that reflect no credit upon these agents of the government entrusted with authority to negotiate such contracts.

"Billions of dollars were squandered through this class of contracts—billions that never can be recovered."

GREENE COUNTY WILL PARTICIPATE IN GALA DAY AT WASHINGTON C. H. OCTOBER 18 WITH EIGHT OTHER NEIGHBOR SECTIONS

Greene county is one of eight counties of the state that will participate in the gala day at Washington C. H., in connection with the presence of Henry C. Wallace, United States Secretary of Agriculture, on October 18. Other counties that are to have part in the day's events are Riss Pickway Clinton, Greene, Madison, Highland Montgomery and Fayette. A large delegation is expected to represent this county at the meeting.

One of the most interesting programs in agricultural circles arranged for Southern Ohio, in many years is being prepared for the event, it is announced, and a big organization has been formed in Fayette County to look after details for this event which is to be known as "Agricultural Community Day."

Secretary Wallace is to arrive in Washington, in the early forenoon and will probably be accompanied by President W. O Thompson, State University, Ohio's Secretary of Agriculture, L. J. Taber, prominent state and district officials of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and other notables all of whom will have a part in the day's program.

In addition to the address by Secretary Wallace which is to be one of vital interest to the farmers of Ohio a feature of the day is to be a parade, in which all eight of the counties will participate together with agriculture organizations, manufacturing plants, business houses and other interests. The parade will contain scores of floats many of which are being planned to typify the progress of agriculture, cooperation between city and rural districts and farmer's problems. Prizes are to be awarded for the floats visualizing the best ideas.

Following a big picnic dinner at the Fayette Couty fairgrounds where the program is to take place, there will be many kinds of contests both inter-county, and inter-township, in which many novel features are to be introduced.

Several bands have been engaged for the day and all school children in Fayette County are to take part in the festivities.

Sixty seven county livestock co operators sent 18 floors containing 262,640 pounds of livestock to the terminals. The marketing expense for these shipments was 63 cents.

State totals, just announced from the office of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation show that 11,275.590 pounds of livestock shipped cooperatively brought $1,013,923.63 at the terminals. Exactly 6,492 livestock producers in 51 counties used the service. The average marketing expense for the state, exclusive of shrink was 681-2 cents. Nearly 12 million dollars worth of livestock has been marketed during the past year by the cooperative organizations.

Resignation of two of the veteran county agricultural agents of Ohio to enter other work, and the appointment of a new extension specialist in home management are among the changes in personnel of the past month, now anounced from the Ohio State University by H. C. Ramsower, director of agricultural extension.

A. A. Olsen, county agent in Crawford County since 1917, has left that position and has gone to Illinois, his home state, to do similar work. Ray F. Donnan, of an equal term of service as county agent in Lucas County, has become the manager of a commercial milk plant at Toledo.

T. M. Beal, for the past three years agricultural agent of Franklin County, Indiana, will take Mr Olsen's place in Crawford County on October 1. Mr. Beal graduated from the Ohio State University in 1917. Prior to entering extension work in Indiana he managed a large farm there.

Miss Bane was raised on an Illinois farm graduated from the University of Illinois, and for five years was county home demonstration agent at Springfield, Illinois.

Byron R. Houser has taken up work as Harrison County's first agricultural agent with the experience of similar work in Minnesota. O. R. Keyser has given up the county agency of Adams County to enter commercial work. His successor and a successor to vacant positions in Lucas and Franklin counties have still to be appointed.

Wallace, secretary of agriculture, provided that the rail situation will by this time allow Secretary Wallace to come to Ohio and to return quickly to Washington, upon call.

CORN CUTTING IS MAKING HEADWAY IN GREENE COUNTY

Despite the fact that corn cutters have been scarce over the county due to the men being called to other fields of labor, corn cutting in Greene County has been making headway this week and "hearting" of fields preparatory for the work of binders has been going on all over the county with "full-shock" operations showing up here and there, where the crop ripened faster.

The lack of labor in the corn fields has been very serious, according to County Agent Ford S. Prince. The condition is worse than it was during the war and some farmers are offering war time prices for labor.

Only a few farmers are paying the large price, Mr. Price says, the average price ranging from twenty- to twenty-five cents a shock. Previous to this time the average price has been about twelve cents.

The call for laborers in the fields has been going out in other counties, the situation in Champaign county being exceedingly acute according to farmers and Farm bureau officials, who are bidding for the services of experienced and even inexperienced men to cut corn.

As high as thirty cents a shock has been offered by some of the alarmed farmers in Champaign county, and the prices are said to range from ten to thirty cents..

A corn cutter can, after some experience, cut upwards of forty or fifty shocks of corn in a ten hour day, it is claimed. This would indicate that a healthy man's efforts in this direction will repay him for the work. Even a new hand should cut at least twenty-five shocks from the outset farmers' claim, which would mean around $5.00 a day for the man who is willing to work.

The corn shock consists of a product of about 140 hills of corn cut and carried to the center of a square containing a number of hills. "A man who can't cut 25 shocks a day isn't much of a man, providing he is able to work," is the opinion of farmers.

Bureau officials have voiced their opinion in the matter by saying, "last year the wage was from 12 to 15 cents a shock and that is all a farmer can afford to pay. When a farmer pays more than 12 cents a shock he is losing money in hiseffort to gather his corn and should adopt other plans, such as "hogging it" on the stalk by allowing the stock to eat it from the stalk and using the left over stocks for fertilizer. By the time he has paid for the cutting, husked the corn in the shock, personally or paid a goodly sum to have it done, hauled the fodder in and then carried out the left over he has expended more time, money and effort than the corn value would warrant.

In general the corn crop over the county is on the average, farmers staay and it is ripening in a normal way. In regions where hail storms visited during the early part of August, farmers found it necessary to gather the corn earlier, as the stalks deadened rapidly after the blades were stripped by the hail stones. Some farmers used the corn for silage some cut it and fed it to hogs and cattle, and some turned hogs into the field, while others harvested the crop in the usual way.

HENS ARE TAKING ANNUAL VACATION

The Greene County hen, following the custom established over the county, is taking her annual vacation. Contrary to other vacations the hen's is paying large dividends.

As a result of the lay-off eggs are scarce and the price is climbing in local groceries and poultry houses, The present retail quotation on egg in this city is about double to that asked two weeks ago jumping from about twenty cents to thiry-five and forty per dozen.

The cow has followed the custom of the hen and is furnishing a low supply of milk for butter, with the result that present time butter is retailing about twenty-five per cent higher.

The team won first place in the team judging contest at the Ohio State Fair, working in competition with teams from 12 other counties in the state.

The team's score was 990 points out of a possible total of 12,000, with twelve points ahead of Wood county, which was in second place and over three hundred points ahead of the thirteenth team.

Benny Beard was high man in the county in the whole contest at the fair, standing 13 points ahead of his nearest competitor.

The prize which the team will secure for its work will be a trip with all expenses paid by the Ohio Banker's Association to the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, the first week in December. The team will compete with livestock judging teams from other states which have been sent there for that purpose. Between now and the international livestock show at Chicago, the boys will be given a week of intensive training in judging live stock, different live stock breeders of the county offering their services with those of Guy Dowdy Boys and Girls' Club department specialist of Ohio State University, who has had considerable experience in the work of stock judging, and also that of Fred R. Keeler, Smith-Hughes Agricultural teacher at Beavercreek High School.

ANNUAL FARM BUREAU TOUR WILL START SEPTEMBER 28; UNUSUAL FEATURES ARE PLANNED FOR TRIP STAGED IN TWO DAYS

The fourth annual Farm Bureau tour to be staged by the Greene County Farm Bureau, September 28 and 29, will incorporate stock judging shows and inspections of model farms in Greene and Clarke Counties departing from the usual routine followed by the farmers in previous years, it is announced by County Agent Ford S. Prince.

The 1922 tour will be difficult from previous tours since this is the first year that the tour has led the farmers out of the county to visit seed and livestock farms.

The tour will start from the Court House both mornings at 8:30 o'clock, standard time, County Agent Prince announces. The visit to several farms in Clarke County is expected to lead several farmers of that county to join the tour.

Another unusual feature of the tour will be that the farmers will stop at at various points of interest outside of their schedule, including Antioch College.

The first day's tour will start at Ralph Howell and Sons' farm in Clarke County, where the farmers will inspect Big Type Poland China hogs. The second stopping place will be at the W. M. Scarff and sons farm in Clarke County, where the party will picnic. The tour will then lead to the Smith Brothers Farm at New Carlisle, to inspect Percheron horses. The first day's tour will end with a visit to the farm of Howard Gerlaugh at Osborn, where Duroc-Hersey hogs will be inspected.

The stock judging contests will be the feature of the second day's tour with the first stop at the Albert Ankeney farm in Beavercreek township to judge Shorthorn cattle. The potato field at the farm of E. J. Ferguson, in Beavercreek township, will be the next point of interest Duroc hogs at the farm of J. Earl McClellan, in Beavercreek township will be then inspected and judged, followed by a picnic at the farm of W. B. Bryson, in Xenia township at noon. The farmers in the afternoon will go to the farm of F. B. Turnbull in Cedarville township to judge Angus cattle. The the next stopping place that has been announced will be the farm of Charles T. Stevenson in Cedarville township to judge Hereford cattle and Shropshire sheep, the tour to end at the C. J. Mellinger farm near Yellow Springs.

EXPLAINING THE EXTENSION SERVICE

1. HOW THE SERVICE IS ORGANIZED.

The Agricultural Extension Service of the Ohio State University carries the teachings of the College of Agriculture to the people of the farms, through personal instruction, bulletins and practical demonstrations in agriculture and home economics.

The object of the work is to make farming more profitable and farm life more satisfying. If this is done, all citizens of the state and nation will be benefited, because a prosperous agriculture is the basis on which all trade and industry is built.

The Extension Service is under the adinistrative management of the Extension Director, who represents the College of Agriculture and the United States Department of Agriculture.

The service is recognized by both state and federal governments as an educational agency of great value and from time to time laws have been passed which outline in general terms of the kind of work to be carried on.

The Smith-Lever Act passed by Congress in 1914, permanently establishes a nation-wide system of agricultural extension under federal financial support, and provides for cooperation between the United States Department of Agriculture and the state agricultural colleges.

The Extension Service is supported by federal, state, and county funds. Federal funds are provided uner the Smith-Lever Act. The county funds are appropriated by county commissioners, upon request of the people of the county.

DELAY SEEDING OF WHEAT THIS MONTH

County Agent Ford S. Prince is announcing that the Farm Bureau office has been receiving numerous calls from farmers over the county as to the correct date for wheat seeding.

There is little danger from the Hessian fly Mr. Prince says, but if the farmers go ahead and seed their wheat before September 30, enough of the fly to infest the early seeded wheat will result that they will become a menace to the crop next year.

The correct date for seeding the wheat, Mr. Prince wishes to make plain is not before September 30, and every farmer should observe the date.

CRITICAL NEED OF SELECTING SEED CORN NOW SEEN

September 20 is about the last chance to select seed corn.

Such selection from ripening standing stalks this fall, and careful storage of this seed corn, is of critical importance this year, crops workers of the Ohio State University believe.

Last year, they point out, corn matured early and dried out pretty well before cold weather came along. But this year inclement weather in May held up planting in almost every quarter of the State. The crop is maturing late, and may be caught by cold weather before the ears are thoroughly dried out.

They urge selection of seed ears from the standing stalk, rather than after the corn is cut, or from the corn crib, since the first method allows consideration of the entire plant and permits the farmer to pick out the ears which show early maturity.

Maturity is the first thing to look for in selecting corn from the field the specialists hold. Sound mature ears on green stalks generally have the greatest power to resist mold in storage and to make good corn. By selecting early maturing ears, they have found in experiments, the succeeding crop will have a tendency to mature a little earlier.

Next to maturity, and freedom from rot they urge the selection of ears that are between 3 and 4 feet from the ground, and which hang downward. Ears that point upward it is said, are likely to get water under their husks, and to spoil in storage.

It is best not to make the final selection of seed corn in the field, but to pick at least three times as many ears as will be needed for seed, and to make the final choice after these ears are husked and dried.

The Greene County Farm Bureau has just finished a campaign with meetings held in ten townships, totalling thirteen meetings, urging farmers to select seed corn early from the stock before the corn dies.

WAIT UNTIL BORERS HATCH TO GAS THEM IS ADVICE GIVEN

Gas attacks on the peach borer should be delayed in southern Ohio until the middle of September, and should be concluded by mid-October. In northern Ohio, the paradichlorobenzene treatment could have been applied two weeks earlier, and should be completed two weeks earlier. Right now is a good time.

It is not that the chemical will not work at any time when there is sunshine, explain entomologists of the Ohio State University. It is only that the fall brood of peach borers will not hatch in the lakeshore counties until around the first week of September, nor in the southern counties until the middle of the month Treatments applied before this hatch takes place miss a good part of the brood.

T. H. Parks, extension entomologist, tells how to use the paradichlorobenzene. It comes in powder form and is laid down in circles around the trunks of peach trees where it releases a gas that seeps into the ground and gets the borers. He says:

"Clear the ground and level it for a circle of 6 inches from the trunk. Remove gum from the bark and then lay down the girdle, using not more than an ounce of the chemical on mature trees and less than an onuce on trees between 4 and 6 years old. Make the girdle about six inches from the trunk and about an inch wide. Cover with fine soil, compacted to a cone, and let it stay for about 3 weeks."

PICRIC ACID WILL BE SOLD IN STATE

Ford S. Prince, County Farm agent, announced Saturday that another car load of picric acid will be brought into Ohio for farmers to use in breaking stones, blowing stumps and ditches. Picric acid is an explosive of nearly twice the strength of dynamite. It is a salvaged war material and is sold by the government at cost.

According to Mr Prince ,the delivered price will be $15 per 100 pounds for the picric acid, $1.00 per 100 feet for the fuse, and $2.70 per 100 for the No. 8 caps, which should be used Caps and fuse should be ordered with the acid.

Order must be accompanied with the cash and must be in the hands of County Agent Prince, on or before Sept. 26.

This is likely to be the last carload of picric acid brought into the state.

TO ORGANIZE HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC LEAGUE IN SECTION

Washington C. H. High School athletic authorities are back of a movement to organize a high school athletic league composed of six high schools in southern Ohio.

Letters of invitation to school athletic officials to attend a meeing at the Cherry Hotel in Washington November 4, have been sent out to Chillicothe, Circleville, Wilmington, Greenfield, Hillsboro and Washington High Schools.

Organization of the league is for the purpose of placing athletics in south-central Ohio schools on a firm basis and to provide a means by which a fair schedule may be worked out and the championship, in football, basketball and other sports, decided each season among these six teams. In this respect the proposed league resembles the unwritten league existing between Yale, Harvard and Princeton which enables these three schools to decide the football championship of the east each season among themselves no matter how many times they have been walloped by elevens not included in the "superior three."

Although Washington High School authorities are backing the movement to organize the league, support of the plan is expected from Superintendent J. A. Smith of Chillicothe and Principal F. R. Harris of McClain High, Greenfield, both of whom are interested in the advancement of south-central High athletics. If the league is organized at this meeting, the officials will consider the plan also of meeting twice yearly.

The proposed plan calls for each school playing each other school in the league two games each season, one on the home field and one on the field of the opponent. According to the Washington proposition this will make it possible for each team to schedule games with four or five other teams in this section, such as Xenia, Lancaster or London, and will not necessitate the breakig of any long-time athletic relations.

The plan is novel if not unique. If each team in the league plays two football games with each other team in the league, that will be ten games, or one more game than Xenia Central High plays in an entire season. If the league teams then book four or five more games with outside teams, they will be stretching the football season up until Christmas, which will be an accomplishment in itself, worthy of any football league.

Styles BY LENORE

Crepe de chine and crepe marocain are among the more popular materials used for the smart costume blouse, especilly when intended for the threepiece suit.

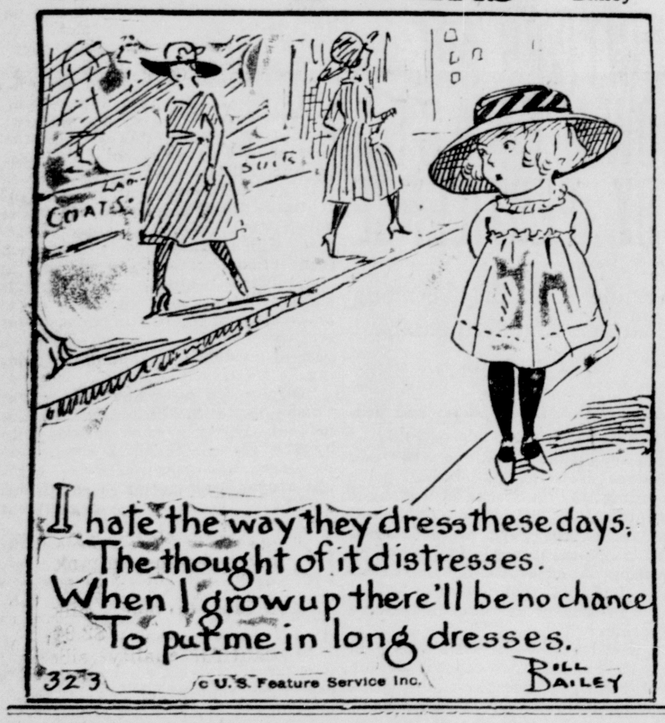

One of the more unusual blouses shown this season is illustrated at the left of the sketch the coatee style making it very desirable as a costume blouse when the coat of the suit is removed. This blouse is shown in cocoa brown, with a narrow edge of gold embroidery.

A splendid blouse for the threepiece suit, especially the type where the blouse is part of the dress beneath, is worn by the other lady in the sketch.

This is made of crepe marocain and duvetyn, gray and green being the colors in yhich it was designed. The little floral decoration at the side which may be embroidered or painted is a pleasing touch.

HARDING APPROVES NAMING DEMOCRAT

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 23.—President Harding, in a letter made public today by R. B. Greager, chairman of the State Republican Executive Committee approved the action of his party in nominating for the U. S. Senate on the Republican ticket, a life long Democrat, George B. Peddy.

The action of the Republicans in nominating Peddy was brought about partly through a factional fight in the Democratic ranks engendered by the Ku Klux Klan and anti Klan activities.

Emaline Boots

How appropriate is this beautiful autumn day for the closing of the earthly career of her in whose memory we are met. The springtime of youth long past—the summer of fruitful harvest at its close and the first blighting frost of the winter upon us.

Like the vegetation we see about us, it seems that death is victorious, but as the trees of the forest, her life, unseen, is pulsing on.

"It is not death to clos ethe eyes long dimmed by tears
And wake, in glorious repose, to spend eternal years.
It is not death to fling aside this sinful dust
And rise, on strong exulting wing to live among the just."

Emaline, daughter of Adam and Hannah Rice Boots was born near Zoar Church, Greene County, Ohio, April 18th, 1835, and died at her late home near Neew Burlington, O. October 11th, 1922, aged 87 years, 5 months and 23 days.

She was the youngest of a family of six and the only one of the family born in this state; the others having come with their parents from Virginia.

When Emaline was but eight years of age her parents died and the home was browen up. At this time she went to live with her half-sister Mrs. John Weaver. When about nine teen years of age she entered the household of Job Mills and family near the village of New Burlington. From this home, February 24, 1858, she was united in marriage with Peter DeHaven, who operated the Grant Flour Mills. Some years later they moved to a farm near Buck Run school house where they lived happily together until the death of the father and husband, February 14, 1889.

Five children were born of this union, three of whom remain: Mrs. Emma Brobst of Columbus, Ohio; Dr. Albert D. DeHaven of Xenia and Amos W., who with his family has always lived in the old home, ministering faithfully to his mother in her declining years.

Two of the children died many years ago, Edgar, who was but a few months old, and Alice McDonald, who was called in the bloom of young womanhood. This one left motherless a baby daughter, Bertha who was gladly welcomed into her grandparents' home and was made a child by adoption as well as by ties of love and devotion.

Besides these children who survive, there are also nine grandchildren and sixteen greatgrandchildren.

Mrs. DeHaven was a member of the Friends Church, having joined with her husband many years ago. Of late years, however infirmities of the body have prevented her attending church serices.

The DeHaven home has always been a very hospitable one. The neighbors have found in it's head a source of help and sympathy. But while Emaline DeHaven was a kind neighbor, a loyal friend and church member, her strongest attribute was that which is symbolized by the word "Mother." Although with increasing years she became less able to minister to her loved ones, they will keenly miss the presence which meant so much to them of love and devoted interest.

It seems only reasonable to believe, however, that the spirit which loved them so well in life,—broods tenderly over them still in a fairer world than this.

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE AT EVENING PARTY

At her attractive country home on the Jamestown pike Friday evening, Miss Pearl Haines received the members of the Alpha Theta Chapter of the Delta Theta Tau Society and the pledge members, at one of the most charming of recent evening parties.

Twenty young women were the invited guests at the affair, who spent the evening with contests and music. The prize winners in the clever contests offered by Miss Haines for the amusement of her guests were Miss Corrine Welsh, Miss Gladys Shadrach, and Miss Lucille Beatty.

An especially pleasing feature of the evening was "when the pie was opened, and the birds began to sing," tiny yellow canaries being found in the "pie." by the guests, bearing the old nursery rhyme, which, when deciphered, gave hint of an interesting announcement. During the two-course luncheon which was marked with many dainty appointmens, the guests found a tiny slip of paper in peanuts suspended from the nut baskets at each place which gave the names of Miss Mildred Confer, and Mr. Frank C. Lott, and the announcement of their engagement. The announcement was received with the many felicitations of the guests of the evening to Miss Confer.

The date of the marriage of Miss Confer and Mr. Lott has not been announced but will be an event of the fall or early winter. Miss Confer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Confer of East Market Street. Mr. Lott is employed at the General Motors Company, in Dayton, where he and his bride will reside following their marriage.

Masses of golden rod and airy fall asters were combined in carrying out a color scheme of yellow and white, throughout the rooms of the Haines home, the decorations and appointments of the luncheon carrying out the scheme.

BOYS QUESTIONED BY POLICE AFTER COMPLAINT MADE

Two youths are under arrest and another is being sought in connection with the theft of about $50 from a money drawer in the office of the Dayton and Xenia Traction Company freight station. West Main Street, about nine o'clock Saturday morning.

The youths being held at headquarters are Ed Coates, 12, and Ralph Terrell, 12, who are being questioned by Chief of Police M. E. Graham. Another boy, whom the pair say was with them Saturday morning, is being searched for by the police.

With the arrest of these youths, police recovered $21 which they believe to be a part of the loot taken. The robbery occurred while Don Clark, manager of the traction freight depot, stepped out of the office for five minutes while he walked to the R. A. Kelly Company plant and back.

On his return he noticed that the boys had left his morning paper, and was surprised they had not waited to collect as usual on Saturday morning. He reported the incident to the police when he discovered that somebody had stopped long enough to collect about $50 in cash from the money drawer. Police believe that with the arrest of the third boy implicated that all of the money will be recovered. The youths will then be turned over to Juvenile Court authorities, according to Chief Graham.

WILL BEGIN MERGER OF LOCAL TELEPHONE SYSTEMS AT EARLY DATE; I. C. C PASSES FAVORABLY ON PROPOSED UNIFICATION

With the announcement that the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington has authorized the acquisition of The Springfield-Xenia Telephone Company by The Ohio Bell Telephone Company for $615,000 it is assurred that the work of merging the two systems in Greene County will be started soon.

The merger was approved Saturday by the Interstate Commerce Commission after the appeal for such approval, made by the Bell interests, had been pending for some time. The Company originally obtained the consent and approval of the Ohio State Utilities Commission to the merger before th question was placed before the higher commission.

Whether one or two telephone companies operating within the scope of The Springfield-Xenia Telephone Company known here as the Citizen's line, would be advantageous to the interests of the subscribers effected, was the question that had to be decided by the Interstate Commerce Commission, before it was able to pass on the question. Its approval of the merger plan indicates that the commission believes the merger of the lines will work to the advantage of the subscribers.

While the actual merger could not be started until the desired approval from Washington had been received, the companies have been quietly laing plans for the combination of service for some time in anticipation of the action of the commission approving the quest. Engineers have mapped out plans for combining the service so that there will be no delay in carrying out the merger.

H. W. Cleaver, manager of The Ohio Bell Company here, although he knew of the approval gained from the Interstate Commerce Commission Saturday, had not been officially informed of the action. Mr. Cleaver does not know when work of dismantling the extra exchanges wherever they are maintained will start, but is of the belief that there will be little delay in going forward with the movement and that the work will be started soon.

The merger will affect telephone service all over Greene County. The Bell and Citizens Companits, now duplicate service in Xenia and Yellow Springs, each operating an exchange in each one of these places. The Citizens line, which will be absorbed by the Bell interests, has a large rural clientele especially in the eastern half of the county and operates exchanges in Xenia Yellow Springs, Jamestown and Bowersville. Through a special arrangement with the Cedarville Telephone Company by which patrons are exchanged services, patrons can also use the lines of that company and vice versa.

The Bell interests have the largest city following and operate exchanges in Xenia, Yellow Springs, Clifton, Bellbrook and Spring Valley. When the merger is completed all telephone subscribers will be Bell Company patrons and will have unified service in Xenia and Yellow Springs where there is now double service, as well as service from all the village exchanges that ore operated by one or other of the companies. Thus the patrons after unification of the system will have service in Xenia, Yellow Springs, Clifton, Jamestown, Bowersville Spring Valley and Bellbrook besides the rural lines, without changing telephones. Whether the Bell Company will make an exchange of service agreement with the Cedarville Telephone Company, such as made Cedarville srvice possible over the Citizen's line is yet to be determined but it will probably be necessary for patrons to pay a small toll to talk to Cedarville as long as the private company is operating there.

The work of combining the exchanges especially with the large boards operated in Xenia, will be long and tedius it is thought. The Bell Exchange is now located on the second floor of the Sutton building, northwest corner of Main and Whiteman Streets, and this will probably be the home of the combined exchange. The Citizens exchange is in the Routzong building over the Orphium theater, at the Sout-west corner of Main and Whiteman Streets.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Williamson of N. Detroit Street and Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Nagley of East Market St., motored to Eaton Friday where they spent the day.

FORMER XENIAN AND SON BURNED TO DEATH AT LAKE

Word has been received in this city of the tragic death of Daniel Carney, former Xenian, and his grandson, who were burned to death when fire destroyed a row of cottages on the east shore of Evans Lake, Michigan, Thursday.

An account of the fire and the death of Mr. Carney and his grandson appears in the Toledo Blade, and includes the following:

"It is probably that circumstances surrounding the fire early Thursday in the row of cottages on the east shore of Evans Lake, Michigan, which claimed the lives of Daniel Carney of Maumee, and his grandson, Daniel Carney, junior, never will be known, as only persons thought to have been in the immediate vicinity are the dead man and boy.

"The flames were discovered by people living in the neighborhood. Five cottages were burning fiercely and when it was found that Carney and his grandson were not about, the sheriff was notified and search of the ruins began. The body of Mr. Carney, who was a resident of Maumee, was found near the doorway of the cottage occupied by the Carney family.

"The body of the child was found in the cellar, the floor having burned away. Both bodies were badly charred, making identification difficult."

Mr. Carney was a resident of this city a number of years ago. Two daughters, who will be remembered by many in this city as the Misses Nell and Bess Carney, having attended school in Xenia.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones of Waynesville, formerly of this city, was called to Chicago last week by the news of the death of their little grandson, Rupert Snead, the four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snead. The little boy's death was due to tonsilitis. Burial was made in Chicago Saturday. Mrs. Snead was formerly Miss Jane Jones.

MOTION TO QUASH INDICTMENTS HEARD BY COURT MONDAY

Hearing of the motions brought by attorneys for the defendants to quash the nine indictments returned by the last Grand Jury against Sheriff L. Funderburgh, Deputies Joe Day and William Burns and Patrolman Charles Simms, began in Common Pleas Court, Monday morning.

Because of the number of witnesses being called by attorneys for the defendants, indications are that the hearing will not be finished Monday but will have to be carried over until Tuesday before all the evidence can be presented to the Court and a decision rendered.

The four officers were indicted by the October Grand Jury jointly for second degree murder and each separately for shooting with intent to kill and shooting with intent to wound in connection with the death of Volney Nichols, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Logan Nichols of the Wilmington pike, who was shot by a member of the posse, September 5, while with a number of other boys, he was engaged in playing a boyish prank along the road.

Counsel for the defendants brought 12 motions to quash the indictments on the grounds that Attorney C. L. Darlington, appointed special assistant to Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson by the Court, had appeared in the Grand Jury room during the investigation, which the motions allege is unlawful, and as the grounds that the Court erred in charging the Grand Jury. Twenty-five or 30 witnesses have been subpoenaed, including the members of the Grand Jury, by the defense counsel, to testify at the hearing.

Before noon Monday, David Keiter, Alva Keiter, Harry Seifert, Logan Nichols, Mrs. Logan Nichols Frank Weaver and John Middleton had been put on the stand and questioned by Attorney F. L. Johnson, one of the attorneys for the officers. All of the witnesses were questioned closely as to money said to have been collected by means of petitions to pay for assistant prosecution. The defendants' attorneys attempted to bring out that Darlington had been retained by Logan Nichols or his friends to prosecute civil actions against the officers, and that he had been engaged by Con Mattern, Dayton attorney, acting as counsel for these men, to take Mattern's place in the Grand Jury during the investigation. The defense counsel also attempted to bring out if any money had been paid Darlington but witnesses declared, that they did not engage Darlington and that they had paid him nothing. The journal entry of his appointment said he was to serve without compensation.

Attorneys for the State are not questoning the witnesses and are interposing but few objections to the questioning of the defense counsel, Attorney for the State are Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson, Con Mattern of Dayton and C. L. Darlington. The defendants are represented at the hearing by F. L. Johnson, Marcus Shoup, C. H. Kyle and Harry D. Smith.

LOCAL FOOTBALL TEAM DEFEATED

The Irish Imperial Athletic Club of this city, made its football debut at Cincinnati Sunday, being defeated by the Spalding A. C. eleven of that city, 63 to 0.

The Imperials were greatly outweighed by the Queen City eleven and having had but a weeks preparation for the contest, were greatly out of their class, although they fought gamely to the finish. The Spalding Club is one of the best in its class in Cincinnati the players admitting that their team averaged more in weight than advertised, but said they were having trouble in getting games.

Xenia made but two first downs, once when "Cupid" McFadden, playing quarterback, "sneaked" the required distance and again on a 30-yard pass to "Ink" Cunnigan, who performed brilliantly at one flank.

The American Legion team was unable to book a game for Sunday so there was no grid battle staged here.

SPRINGFIELD WINS

The F. O. E. Athletics of Springfield defeated the Yellow Springs Athletics at Springfield Sunday afternoon 3 to 1 thereby winning the second out of three games played between the clubs.

The Yellow Springs tribe engaged Bill Lape to do mound duty, moving Day to second base and Little to the outfield, and Lape staged a sensational pitching duel with Acton, the Springfield pitcher.

JOSEPH C. TATE CALLED BY DEATH

Mr. Tate was born near Xenia on a farm, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patterson Tate, and spent all of his life in this city. His wife, who survives his death, was formerly Miss Rosanna Kyle. Mr. Tate served a number of years ago as constable, and was a member of the Lewis Post of the G. A. R. of this city.

Besides his widow, he leaves the following children: Clarence Kyle Tate, of Massillon, Ohio; Mrs. Jennie Bell Dobbins, of Stafford, Kan., John Lester Tate, of Xenia, and Mrs. Bertha Jenks at home. Two brothers, James Tate, of Dayton avenue, and William Tate, of Bellbrook, also survive. Mr. Tate was a member of the Second United Presbyterian Church of this city.

THE BONUS BILL VETO.

True to his repeated warnings that he would veto the Soldiers' Bonus Bill in the form in which Congress passed it in spite of him, President Harding sent the legislation back with a vigorous message of disapproval.

The President applied without stint the whip of criticism to Congress for pretending to provide adjusted compensation for former soldiers, while doing nothing to furnish the necessary funds beyond a hazardous scheme of cash certificates which the Executive held would be a menace to the credit of the Government. He chided Congress for having attempted a course of governmental folly.

Supporters of the vetoed bill will content themselves with having the House override the President, and the Senate sustain him, and then attempt to explain that they did everything they could to obtain the legislation. There was no disposition whatever to insert new tax levies to provide the revenue and thus have the measure meet the primary objection of the White House.

The credit of the Government would be impaired by such a plan, he declared, and he cited the obligations maturing within the current fiscal year, $4,000,000,000, which would have to be refunded. Within the six years in which the heaviest payments of the bonus would fall, the President declared, maturing obligations aggregating $10,000,000,000 would have to be financed.

Mr. Harding confessed a regret that "he must sound a note of disappointment to the many ex-service men who have the impression that it is as simple a matter for the Government to bestow billions in peace as it was to expend billions in war."

"It is vastly more applauded to expend than to deny," he said, referring to the fact that all of the economies effected in the Government during the first eighteen months of his Administration would be wiped out by the Bonus Bill.

"HANDS OFF" IS U. S. NEAR EAST POLICY.

The policy of the United States in the Near East situation will be one of strict neutrality, it was announced officially at the White House. The United States has no intention of participating in any of the political developments and in no circumstances will American naval and military forces be used to defend the Dardanelles, it was declared.

American warships now in Levantine waters, it was said, were there solely to protect American lives and property and no battleship would be assigned to co-operate with the allied fleet assembled in the Straits.

The White House announcement confirms the position of the State Department taken a week ago on the occupation of Smyrna by the Turkish Nationalists. The department's activities have been directed toward relief for the Christian minorities in Asia Minor and the evacuation of the American citizens caught in the Turkish advance. What correspondence this Government has had with Great Britain and France has been entirely upon plans for the relief work which American officials believe should be undertaken by the nations which have the facilities on the ground.

EDUCATION AS AN INVESTMENT BENEFITING ALL CONCERNED.

Education is not an absolute guarantee of success. Educated as well as uneducated men sometimes fail. But education is not the cause of the failure of the educated, while frequently the cause of the failure of the uneducated is a lack of education.

It would be unfair to say that educational values can be reckoned wholly on the basis of dollars and cents. The greatest results of an education are not measurable by such a standard of values. In fact, they are too far-reaching and complex to be measured at all. The effect that right education has on the broadening, deepening and refining of human life is immeasurable. These results can no more be measured by dollars and cents than truth, self-sacrifice and love can be measured with a yardstick.

Education not only pays the individual; it pays the State as well. * * *

Wherever there is lack of the necessary school system, there is the same story of poverty, revolution and misery regardless of race, climate or abundance of natural resources.

This being true, it is absolutely necessary that we maintain high standard of efficiency in our educational system.

A PERFECT GIRL.

The most perfect girl of 158 in the Girls' High School of Brooklyn is a Girl Scout. She is Miss Helen Simpson of 1190 Bushwick Avenue, that Borough.

"My experience as a Girl Scout has been of great aid in building up my body," said Miss Simpson after the examination in which she was picked as the most perfect specimen of girlhood in her class. "Happiness, however, has had much to do with it. I have always preferred an outdoor to a social success, and such dancing as I have done was to develop grace." Miss Simpson is sixteen. She is 62 inches tall and weighs 112 pounds.

Before Miss Simpson was picked as the "Health Girl," she was made to undergo a most rigid test. She was the only girl not disqualified during the examinations.

The young woman sleeps with her bedroom windows wide open, Girl Scout fashion, takes plenty of outdoor exercise each day, observes regular hours, disdains tea and coffee and eats little candy. She does not try to excel in sports but is good at swimming, basket ball and the like. Her favorite exercise is bicycle riding.

The railroads of this country are said to purchase and control 29.8 per cent of the normal bituminous coal output.

A LITTLE SOUVENIER OF HIS TRIP ABROAD

Some very fine specimens were brought in.

Mr. George Tiffany is a Cincinnati visitor today.

Messrs. Buel and John have about finished furnishing their Box ball alley under the Gazette office rooms on Green Street, and they expect to be ready for business in a few days. The game is very entertaining, giving all the exercise of bowling without noise or violence.

The emancipation celebration, held here yesterday was the biggest day of the kind held here in thirty years, it being the 40th anniversary of the issuance of the proclamation. There were over 6,000 people at Lucas Grove and the order was excellent. It was also the first reunion of the Ninth Battalion, O. N. G.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl almost seventeen and my parents object to my going with boys. I have never cared to go with them until lately, when I met a young man two years my senior. I love him the same as I would my own brother if I had one. His mother told me he cares a great deal for me. He does not care to go with other girls and he calls for me after school to take me riding.

He is a young man with excellent qualities, has a good position and is liked by everyone. I gave him a silver pencil for Christmas and he was very much pleased, but he didn't give me anything. He asked me for my picture. Do you think I ought to give it to him?

He has my ring and one day I asked for it and he said he would like to keep it.

He has come to see me at my grandmother's home. One thing I do not like is that when I go to see him at his office he does not seem to want me there. Some men tease him about me. Do you think that is the reason why?

He knows my father very well. His parents think I go with him. One day his mother asked me over the telephone to come to see her, although I do not know her personally. Do you think I ought to go? Only my grandparents know of our acquaintance and they like him very much. BETTY ANN.

Your parents are right when they consider you too young to go with boys. I do not think you are doing the right thing to keep your friendship with the young man a secret. Be open and above board and tell your parents what your grandparents already know. Probably you can get your grandparents to intercede for you.

To make a practice of going out evenings with boys would be a bad thing for a girl of your age. I think it would be harmless if the young man called at your home occasionally after school or early in the evening.

I never advise girls to give their pictures to boys. A picture is so personal that it should only be given to rare friends or a fiance.

It is very bad form to call on a young man at his place of business. His employer is not paying him to talk to a girl. Probably your friend is annoyed because he knows it is not the proper thing for you to be there.

Do not go to the young man's home even when his mother invites you unless you have the consent of your mother.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am the support of a family of seven, not counting myself. I have been idle for thirty days and unable to get a position. I have had fourteen years' experience on railroads as track foreman. I am recommended from large systems, but my recommendations do not seem to help me. I can drive a truck or do anything in any line to provide support for my large family. I am thirty-seven years old and full of alertness.

Can you advise me how I can secure a position? I would appreciate very much your guide in regard gard to how to present myself to an employer. T. A. F.

I only wish that I could help over a million unemployed to get work. Right now most firms are struggling to get along and they feel that they are doing well to keep the men already in their employ without hiring more.

Persistence is the only thing that will help you. Watch the help wanted advertisements and make application for such positions as you think suitable. Do not talk too much when you apply. If you are brief and answer questions in an intelligent way, you will stand more chance of getting work than to take the man's time by telling him all of your qualifications and your troubles.

I sincerely wish you a turn of good luck and would be glad to hear from you again when you secure work. Naturally I am concerned when a provider for a family of seven is thrown out of work.

A TEMPTING SUPPER MENU

The French and Italian cooks have always been considered masters of sasoning. The main dish in the following supper menu is from an Italian recipe, and will be found savory and delicious.

Risotto Milanese
Cocoa, Peach Delight, Fudge Cake

Risotto Milanese:—Slice one onion and fry it slowly in three tablespoons of olive oil. Add two tablespoons of butter and when it is melted stir in one and one-half cups of rice (washed and well drained,) then let fry until the rice is yellow, stirring constantly. Now add two cups of soup stock (canned consomme may be used instead) and when this liquid is absorbed and more of the stock until the rice is done. Stir in a little more butter and two tablespoons of grated parmesan cheese, then serve. When done, this dish should be the consistency of spaghetti. If you cannot get the parmesan cheese, mild American cheese, finely chopped, may be substituted—but it will not have the true Italian flavor.

Peach Delight:—Sift together one and one-half cups of flour, three teaspoons of baking powder, one half teaspoon of salt and one tablespoon of sugar. Work into this mxture with the finger tips, two tablespoons of either butter or lard. Add one half cup of sweet milk and mix with a knife to keep the dough light. Place 1 peach half in each "well" of a muffin pan (or use small ramekins) and drop a tablespoon of the dough on each one. Bake 15 minutes in a hot oven and serve with cream or with peach sirup.

Fudge Cake:—"Cream together one and one half cups of granulated sugar and two thirds of a cup of butter. Add one cup of either sweet or sour milk, then two and one half cups of flour sifted with one heaping teaspoon of soda or baking powder (the baking powder if the sweet milk is used, the soda otherwise.) Now add one fourth cup of cocoa powder dissolved in a little warm water (just enough to make a paste of it.) Stir in one half cup of nutmeats or rasins and, lastly, add three eggs beaten separately. This makes a three-layer cake. Serve with the following:

Fudge Frostings:—Melt one and one half tablespoons of butter, add one-half cup of cocoa powder, one and one third cups of sugar, a pinch of salt and one half cup of sweet milk. Heat this mixture to the boiling point, then boil five minutes. Remove from stove and beat until creamy. Add one half teaspoon of vanilla and spread over cake, and between layers." (This cake recipe, with frosting, was kindly contributed by a Reader.)

BUYING JUNK.

We spend too much for foolish things, for things we do not need; for Airedale pups and piston rings, for idle tales to read. Tired Father draws his weekly wage, and says to wife and kin, "Since blowing coin is all the rage, come, let us blow it in. I may be broke when I am gray, like other shiftless skates, but while I live no man can say that I have tightwad traits. So, now, Miranda, don your lid, and children, come with me; along the village street we'll skid, and buy all things we see." Tired Father labors long and hard to earn the helpful scads; through weary days he renders lard, or fashions liver pads; through long, long hours he greases pigs for use at county fairs, or manufacturers oakum wigs like that which grandma wears. And when he draws his weekly pay, all stained with honest sweat, he should to wife and kindred say, "The bank's the one best bet. Just now you handed me some hints that you would shopping go, but I must see your plans and prints before a cent you blow. I give you, wife, a silver dime, the children each a cent; there'll be no carnival of crime, no coin for doodads spent. In yonder bank I'll place my roll, and when we're old, eftsoons, we will not freeze for lack of coal, or starve through dearth of prunes."

Today's Talk by George Matthew Adams

THE MELONCHOLY OF INTROSPECTION

It is only as we look forward that interests breed about us.

And only in interests are found the antidotes for gloom, inefficiency and self-love.

To sit still, to introspect, to speculate solely with our losses and failures, is to take all vitality from character and leave it nakedly lean and lonely.

We must somehow find a path away from ourselves.

We must learn one of the most important of all life lessons—that only as we pursue happiness through the happiness of others can our lives enter into the Promised Land of real success.

The empty spaces in our lives must constantly be filled. There must be no limit in space to our thoughts. They shall be as wide and shall extend as far as our biggest world!

So let us strive in forgetfulness of self and selfish interests.

Introspection is a thing that darkens the very soul of the strongest and weakens the most ambitious.

The great of the earth have not been those of mighty intellect— but those in whose hearts were warmed and fed the poorest of the earth.

For character is far greater than intellect—and in character there is nothing greater than heart.

We escape the melancholy of introspection by entering upon unselfish service be it in what form or in what manner you choose.

Some of the stupidest people I have ever known to have been those highly educated in mind but poorly educated in heart.

Just forget that YOU count at all. Be efficient in your work and unselfish in all that you do and you will never worry over being happy.

IMPORTANT—GET OUT THE REPUBLICAN VOTE ON NOVEMBER 7th.

Three weeks of battling to keep Ohio safe for the Harding Administration has passed. That is the paramount objective of the Republican Party not only in the President's home State, but almost its crowning ambition in the Nation at large. To achieve it every resource at the organization's command is to be thrown into the State between now and election day. There is no effort to conceal the magnitude of the issue.

If Ohio is lost, the Republican inclination will be to consider that the country has been lost. The defeat of Simeon D. Fess for the United States Senate and of Carmi A. Thompson for the Governorship on a clean-cut platform of "Stand by the President" would mean, in Republican estimation, repudiation if not annihilation of the Harding cause

Correspondingly, the re-election of Atlee Pomerene to a third term in the Senate is the supreme aspiration of Ohio Democrats. They would esteem such a result as meaning much more than vindication of the Senator. They would herald it as a knockout blow, the effects of which would reverberate across the republic and echo into 1924 with such force as to make Senator Pomerene the child of Democratic destiny two years hence.

It is because of such contingencies, ramifying far beyond the confines of Ohio, that the rival forces are girded for one of the fiercest frays in the annals of Buckeye politics. Mr. Harding himself, though holding aloof from the actual combat, surveys it with abiding interest not unnaturally mixed with anxiety. As a substantial token of his sympathy with a fight so inimately wrapped up with his own fortunes, the President has just sent his check for $1000 to the State campaign fund. Neither party is rolling in wealth in Ohio this year, and contributions, large or small, are gratefully received.

Republicans pin their faith of landing Fess in the senatorship and Thompson in the governorship on the broader issue of "stand by the President." They are confident Warren G. Harding's native State, far from repudiating his administration, will give it a splendid indorsement.

They say Ohio Republicans are conscious of their peculiar responsibility on November 7, realize that the eyes of the Nation are on them, and will fully measure up to the demands of the hour. Republican managers aver their toughest problem will be to get out the normal Republican vote. "Ohio is a Republican State," they explain. "We can't duplicate the 1920 Harding majority of 400,000 in an off year, but we will win easily if we can march our people to the polls.

PLENTY OF OPPORTUNITIES "AT THE TOP."

"Few opportunities," says some one. Think of this: Of the twenty largest railroads in America, nineteen have new presidents, as compared with seventeen years ago. Even in the last seven years twelve railway presidencies out of the twenty have been won by new men.

The industrial field has proved equally rich in opportunity for climbers. Of the twenty leading industrial corporations in America only one has the same president as it had in 1905, while eleven of these important positions have been captured within the last seven years.

Do not these remarkable figures prove there constantly is a place at the summit for the man who knows how to clumb to it?

How mighty little of handing down of gigantic jobs from father to son there now is in America! In the olden days this custom was more or less prevalent here. It isn't today, except in the rather rare instances where a son wins his spurs through very conspicuous ability.

Take railroad presidencies in 1905; George J. Gould, son of his predecessor in office, was president of Missouri Pacific. There is no Gould in the list today. Neither is there any Vanderbilt or Huntington or Hill or Harriman. In 1905 E. H. Herriman headed both the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific, but none of his sons has been pitchforked into either position.

There isn't a single multi-millionaire in the presidential chair of any leading railway system in the United States. Not only so, but in virtually every instance our railroad presidents of today are men who started at the very bottom.

INDUSTRIAL TEETOTALISM.

Henry Ford found "the efficiency of his plant was injured by drunken men," particularly by men drinking the poisonous bootleg liquor peddled rather freely around Detroit. His mechanical processes are so highly organized that one irresponsible workman might throw the whole factory system out of gear. Besides, Henry has moral views on the subject. So he promulgated the following order:

"From now on it will cost a man his job, without any excuse or appeal being considered to have the odor of beer, wine or liquor on his breath, or to have any of these intoxicants on his person or in his home.

"The eighteenth amendment is part of the fundamental law of this country. It was meant to be enforced. Politics has interfered with enforcement of his law, but so far as our organization is concerned, it is going to be enforced to the letter."

This is drastic action, but public comment on the whole seems to support the manufacturer To the argument that he is interfering improperly in the personal habits and rights of his employes it is answered that nobody is obliged to work for Mr. Ford, and that he has a right to lay down his own rules of conduct for those who choose to accept employment from him. The Manufacturers' Record upholds him, and the majority of big employers plainly approve of his policy even when they hesitate to adopt it themselves.

Certainly this is an effective way to make prohibition prohibit. If it were followed generally it would do more to enforce the Volstead law than all the enforcement machinery has yet been able to do.

It should be evident, however, that no such policy can succeed if the employers themselves are known to be breaking the prohibition law. What is moral for a workman is moral for his boss, and incompetence due to booze is just as harmful to efficiency in the office as it is in the factory.

COLD CONSOLATION

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

The two, two-story frame houses situated on West Second Street, and owned by Mr. Fisher, were yesterday sold through the agent T. H. Bell to Mrs. Mathew Coulter and Mr. M. Randall, who will occupy the same as homes.

The rumor has been going about for several days that the Menhelham syndicate which operates and controls the Xenia and Springfield Electric line, has purchased the Purden right of way between this city and Dayton.

The telegraphic dispatches from Annapolis, Md., giving an account of a football game between the Naval Cadets and the University of Pennsylvania, mention of Mr. Earl Smith of this city in a very favorable manner. He played quarterback and two or three times frustrated quarterback kicks.

Mrs. Sarah Markel, who has been spending a couple of weeks with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Wolf, returned to her home in Delaware this morning.

when the accident happened. Charges of disorderly conduct, growing out of the alleged theft of some souvenirs in a Carey restaurant by the students resulted in the arrests. Reissig's condition was not critical, physicians who extracted the bullet said. He was placed on a train for Ann Arbor Sunday evening. Fines totalling $110 were imposed upon the students by the Carey mayor.

BEAUTY CHATS by EDNA KENT FORBES

PRACTICIAL AND PRETTY SMOCKS

When I decided to write about smocks and skirts as a simple practical way of dressing I was thinking principally of the expectant mother One of the worst trials of the young mother, particularly if it is the first baby, is to see the disappearance of the slender lines of her figure. She begins then to sympathise with the woman who is growing stout through overeating; in fact probably for the first time in her life she will find something pathetic about the comic fat lady.

A smock will make alomts every figure look slim, that is if it is properly made. It is loose and straight, it conceals the waist line or lack of it,it does away with the need for corsets because it was first made in countries where corsets were never heard of. I would advise every housewife to wear a straight dark skirt with a raised waist band or an elastic through the waistband and over it is a simple made smock. This could be of natural or colored linen, gingham or chambray with a touch of coarse bright embroidery. These smocks are easy to launder and hold their freshness for several days. Such a costume takes half a minute to slip into of a morning and keeps the housewife looking neat while she works. At the same time it gives her a chance to work without corsets which is the most beneficialway.

The smock is an ideal costume for the expectant mother since it entirely conceals the figure for five or six months and for the remaining shorrt period minimizes any unusual appearancee. Russian or easant style smocks cut on perfectly straight lines, the straight full sleeve gathered to a cuff, are easy to make and becoming to wear.

The other most practical style has the reglan sleeve which gives such a good fit at the shoulders, the fullness held by smocking at front and back.

Bille B.—While you could weigh another 15 pounds there is nothing serious in a growing girl being below average weight. You are using up all your energy now in attaining height; but this will change soon and you will loose that angular appearance and fill out. Continue to drink milk and exercise. Go in for as many sports as you can.

Zoe—To develop the calves of the legs, tense the muscles in the lower part of them stretch them by bending the foot and thrusting the toes downward. This stretching of muscles in the front of leg contracts those of the calf, much the same as the exercise in riding a bicycle.

MICHIGAN STUDENT SHOT; WILL RECOVER

Findlay, Oct. 23.—Theodore Reissing of Grand Rapids, Mich., a University of Michigan junior, was shot just above the heart early Sunday at Carey by Andrew Greer, village night watchman, whose gun was accidentally discharged when he attempted to strike the student with its butt.

Reissing and 20 other students returning to Ann Arbor from the Ohio State-Michigan football game at Columbus, had been taken into custody by Greer, who was attempting to keep them under control, he said,

AUTUMN.

Another year is skipping right smartly to its close, the skies will soon be shipping some novelties in snows; and all the bathing peaches have left the ocean beaches, and through the woodland reaches a keen wind shrewdly blows. There's something sad and dreary about the days of Fall; they're seldom bright and cheery, spring days they don't recall; the nights are long and chilly; the roads are rough and hilly; along them Weary Willie hunts for a winter stall. We face increased expenses, though we are in the hole; we'll have to burn the fences, so costly is the coal; the price of grub is steeper; and yet why be a weeper? For rubber tires are cheaper, and still our busses roll. We'd dodge a lot of sorrow and woe that makes us yell if we'd vacate tomorrow the shacks in which we dwell, old ties and customs sever, old forms of dull endeavor, and in our cars forever abide till life's farewell. Why should we live in shanties, and pay for heat and light, and bonnets for our aunties, and everything we bite? The long white road is lying outdoors where wheels are flying, and motor horns are crying—why not pull out tonight? Thus foolishly I twitter; such vagrant dreams will come, when autumn winds are bitter, and life seems out of plumb; when I can't rightly figure, as bills grow big and bigger, just how I'll stand the rigor of winter, bleak and glum.

RICHLAND CLUB HOLDS ITS OPENING MEETING FRIDAY

A fine spirit of community interest was manifested at the opening meeting of the school year held Friday evening by the Richland Community Club in the Richland school building. There was a very large attendance and an interesting program was given.

Mrs. James Laurens presided and at short business session Delmar Compton was chosen to serve as secretary for the year. The program conisted of a duet by Mary Beam and Mildred Edwards, an address by J. T. Gordon of Jamestown on "Community Work. a solo by Flora Beam; a reading by Mrs. Orville Watkins; an address by Prof. D. H. Barnes of this city and a short talk by Rev. Walley, pastor of the Richland church.

In his address on farm conditions Prof Barnes brought out the fact that Ohio has a quarter of a million farmers and that the size of the farms is decreasing. Sixty percent of the population live in the cities. Prof. Barnes states that Ohio's industries are drawing the boys and girls away from the Ohio farms.

At the close of the program there was an informal social hour and refreshments were served.

MUCH IS AT STAKE IN SUNDAY'S GAME

There is nothing definite of course until the teams take the field, but it is being rumored about, through the best news conveying sources, that when the Bayliff Electrics and the Yellow Springs Athletics take the Field in the deciding game of the county baseball championship series, Sunday, that each team will be but a mere vestige of its former self— a mere vestige.

Naturally these grapevine rumors, trickling their way along through underground channels, cannot be relied upon thoruhly, especially in the betting, but there is said to be plenty of evidence of their fact. Else why is it whispered so persisently that the management of the invadig tribe has signed up a Columbus hurler of no mean reputation to do slab duty Sunday and why are many other rumors of improvements of weak spots in the Yellow Springs armor, being broadcasted with such apparent honesty.

The electricians admit that they were primed for the contest last Sunday when they walloped themselves to an even footing with the Athletics, and believing that all is fair in love and baseball, they are not setting up any howl about the reports of the visitors attempts to plug up weak places in the old battleplate. And when these nine take the field at the Washington St. yard for the deciding game Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, it is predicted that even the most faithful bugs will be non-plussed by the new faces in uniform.

EMANCIPATION DAY OBSERVED FRIDAY

No local celebration of Emancipation Day was staged by colored people here Friday.

Many made a holiday of the day however, and attended celebrations in other cities .Athletis events drills addresses and a street parade were features of the day in Dayton, the exercises being held at the fairgrounds.

Teams from Xenia, Eaton, Richmond, Springfield, Dayton and other cities contested for prizes in the athletic events, in the afternoon. Music was furnished by several bands. The celebration concluded with a dance at Memorial Hall Friday night.

The celebration planned at Springfield was later called off and there was no official recognition of the day there.

TURNBULL REUNION HELD HERE FRIDAY

Two hundred descendents of William Turnbull, one of the first pioneers to Greene County attended the first family reunion that has been held in several years, at the old Turnbull homestead near the South Point Schoolhouse, five miles east of Xenia, on the Cedarville pike, Friday.

Members of the family from Ohio, Illinois, and Pennsylvania attended the affair, and enjoyed one of the most sociable of family gatherings held in this vicinity recently.

A sumptious dinner at noon, followed by talks of the various members of the family, including several ministers were on the program of the day. An organization of the family was effected. Mr. Thomas Turnbull of Pennsylvania, being elected president of the body. Plans are being made to hold a reunion of the family once each succeeding year.

A history of the Turnbull family was read by Mr. Joseph Turnbull of Jamestown, many interesting facts to the succeeding generations being contained in the article. According to the history, William Turnbull came to Tennessee from Scotland, his wife being a native of Ireland, accounting for the families of Scotch-Irish blood. After residing in Tennessee for several years, Mr. and Mrs. Turnbull came to Ohio, one hundred and one years ago, in 1822, and built a stone house, on the site where the reunion was held Friday, and which still stands in good condition. In front of the old-fashioned dwelling is a stone, bearing the initials "W. T. 1821" the inscription still being plain to be seen. While residing in Tennessee, the Turnbull estate was adjoining that of "Stonewall" Jackson, at Nashville, and William Turnbull and the southern leader were very warm friends.

Pictures of the large number of descendants gathered together Friday were taken, with those of various members of generations in the family circle. Among those from a distance who attended the reunion were T. J. Turnbull, of Monmouth, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. James McMillan of Columbus, together with many from Pennsylvania, and other Ohio cities.

Miss Lucille Meahl, president of the organization, and Mrs. J. W. Stevens, chaperoned the young people. Upon their arrival at the buck home the evening was spent toasting weiners and bacon about large camp fires. the remainder of the time being spent in the Buck home with games and music.

FORMER JAMESTOWN MAN IS CHAPLAIN OF AMERICAN LEGION

The Rev. Willim P. O'Connor, formerly pastor of St. Augustine's Catholic Church at Jamestown, is the new national chaplain of the American Legion, elected at the closing session of the national convention of that organization in New Orleans last Friday.

The Rev. Father O'Connor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. O'Connor, of Dayton, his father being a member of the Dayton police department. His sister, Miss Kathleen O'Connor, is a motion picture actress. He was educated at St. Joseph's School, Dayton and the University of Dayton before studying for the priesthood at Mt. St. Mary Seminary, at Cincinnati and after being ordained was assistant pastor at Urbana for some time.

When the war broke out Father O'Connor enlisted early and was immediately assigned to duty without attending the chaplain's school. Soon after receiving his sommission and rank as an officer however, the young priest acquainted himself with army routine and became a favorite among other officers and enlisted men. After serving a year and eight months at Montgomery, Ala. he was ordered overseas, attached to the 146th. field artillery, of the 37th. Division. In France, Father O'Connor was considered one of the best known and most popular chaplains with the American Army.

Father O'Connor served two years overseas and for several months was in one of the hottest sectors with the "Fighting Thirty-Seventh." Following the armistice he organized a group of soldiers into a company known as the "Follies of the Thirty-Seventh Division," a musical show for the entertainment of soldiers in the Army of Occupation. Funds were raised to buy costumes and scenery and the success of the show prompted army officers to allow the company to tour the different towns in which American soldiers were stationed. It was in these travels that thousands of soldiers personally met the young chaplain.

After returning from France, Father O'Connor was assigned to the pastorate at Jamestown where he helped organize Wilbur Thomas Post, of the American Legion, serving as its first chaplain and later as Post Commander, and taking an active part in all Legion affairs. He was afterward transferred to the pastorate of the Catholic Church at Sedamsville where he is now located.

Mother knows Resinol will heal it

She has been through it so many times before that she never hesitates now. When anyone in the family comes to her with a spot of eczema or an itching rash, she gets out the jar of Resinol Ointment and gives prompt relief. And a few applications seldom fail to clear away the irritation completely.

Resinol Ointment is an excellent healing dressing, too, for burns, scalds, cuts and stubborn little sores. Sold by all druggists, for sample free, write to Dept. 41-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. Use Resinol Soap for babies

Too Bad it wasn't Twins

That's what we always think whenever a Dad walks in with his son forced to buy a complete new suit because the single pants of the suit gave out while the coat was just getting warmed up.

It's too bad too that more parents do not insist on two pants suits for it's just as logical as carrying a spare tire. We specialize on DOUBLE barreled suits first by having them—and then by not being afraid to let them go at low prices.

Novel effects are obtaine by the use of gold and bronze embroideries this season. One of those charming dresses that are so dependable for all round year for smart occasions uses dark brown velvet with dull gold bead embroidery around the edges of the skirt which is dividided in the front over a satin slip in the manner illustrated in the sketch. This a model from Georgette, whose clothes are so well known for being simple and decorative at the same time.

Georgette keeps her models to the simple, straight silhouette, with novel details to make them original and interesting. A dress of crepe, for example, also in brown, has two necklines—the bateau and another created by a high collar attached to the dress only by a narrow piece in front.

Her Rheumatism Has Entirely Disappeared

The successful treatment of rheumatism by taking Tanlac is one of the outstanding features of that remarkable medicine. Thousands of people everywhere have testified that it has brought them complete relief from this torturous disease. Mrs. M. Hickey, of 1313 Milburn Ave., Toledo, Ohio, says:

"For seven years I was in a very weak, run-down condition, but my worst trouble was rheumatism which was so bad I could hardly walk. Tanlac built up my whole system wonderfully and I hardly notice any rheumatic pains any more; in fact, I feel better than I have in years."

When the digestive system, liver and kidneys are not working properly, uric acid and other impurities accumulate in the muscles and joints, causing rheumatism. Tanlac quickly overcomes this condition by enabling the vital organs to perform their functions properly. Get a bottle today at any good druggist.

MILLIONAIRES FORM NEW HOBO COLONY

Boston and New York society folks with millions in money and eccentric ideas have formed a Hobo Colony under the leadership of John Knowles Bourne, millionaire "farmer" aand are now located near Buzzard's Bay. Charles Garland, who refused his father's millions, cast off his wife and took two soulmates, is a member. The Hobo Colony began in the "Waffle Shop" of Mary Whipple, in Boston, but when that place was closed by the police they moved to quieter zones. The stated purpose of the "Hobo Corporation" is to fight unions, protect the elect from the restrictions of the great unwashed and to secure freedom to enjoy the untrammeled luxury of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness." Mrs. Frederick Snow has repeatedly shocked society by her madcap adventures.

Efficient Housekeeping

CHOOSING THE RIGHT SOUP FOR DINNER

In choosing a soup for dinner, the housekeeper should keep one thing in mind: A "clear" soup is used with a dinner whih contains a creamed vegetable or a rich sauce or gravy; and a cream soup may accompany a dinner which does not contain these starchy sauces. The following menu is of the latter variety:

Cream of Pea Soup
Liver Smothered with Onions
Boiled Potatoes
Coffee Prune Whip

Cream of Pea Soup: Drain the contents of one can of peas from their liquor and put these drained peas into a saucepan with two cups of cold water and two teaspoons of sugar; bring to a boil, then let simmer for 20 minutes. Press the mixture through a sieve, reheat, and thicken with two tablespoons of flour creamed with two tablespoons of butter. Now scald two cups of sweet milk in another pan and season it with one teaspoon of salt, a pinch of pepper and one-half teaspoon of onion juice. Add this hot milk to the reheated peas, let boil up a minute, and serve.

Liver Smothered with Onions: Pour two tablespoons of olive oil into your frying pan and add a piece of butter the size of an egg; when these fats are hot, put into the pan six large onions peeled and finly sliced, and one pound of liver which you have cut up into small pieces. Stir all together and sprinkle with one teaspoon of salt and a little pepper; add one cup of water and cover, to fry for 30 minutes. From time to time, raise the lid to stir. Serve very hot.

Prune Whip: Cook one pound of prunes till soft, then press them through a sieve. Add to the strained pulp the juice of one-half lemon, one tablespon of granulated sugar, and the white of one egg stiffly beaten. Serve in glass cups, chilled.

From time to time, I shall publish soup recipes accompanied by the proper solid foods to make a well balanced dinner.

Answer to "A Traveler": I regret that I cannot help you in regard to the estimate you speak of. That is a thing which can be determined only after making experiments.

Answer to Young Housewife: If you cover the putty around the pane of glass with soft soap and leave that on a while, you will find that you can remove the broken pane easily. For the soft soap will soften the putty. In reply to your question concerning the bristles on your hair brush which have become soft from frequent washings, you can stiffen these bristles by dipping them in the following solution: Dissolve a lump of alum the size of a walnut in two cups of cold water. Dry the bristles after dipping them in this, and they will stiffen satisfactorily.

Today's Talk

In Which Gear Do You Drive?

The gear in which you drive your life makes everg difference in the world—

The difference between accomplishment with ease and failure under difficulties.

Everyone who has ever driven a car knows that the most ground is covered when in "high" and with the least wear and tear and in the most comfortable manner.

People who accomplish much, work in "high" nearly all the time; wheras those who are always floundering use the low speeds. In other words, they sweat and strive under difficulties which they would easily avoid just the minute they shifted to "high".

The low speeds of a car are arranged only for emergencies—when there are hills of unusual grade to climb, or where a special pull is demanded.

And that is exactly the way that a human being is built. He too, has speeds. It up to him to chooge the right ones—and the right speeds for difficulties are the low ones, but for the average, everyday tasks of life, high speed is the natural one. Use is and you will go far!

But bear in mind one thing—you can't start on high. Use the low speed to get up steam and momentum and then shift quickly to high. And don't drop into low again, except where it is absolutely necessary for some unusual difficulty.

It has been well said that many people travel alal their days in low speed and don't know it. Many people walk around day after day only half awake and don't know it.

Wake up—Speed up!

In which gear do you drive? You can easily tell by the ease with which you ride (work), or by the manner in which you get things done.

If things don't sound right or you don't seem to be getting anywhere, better stop and go over your bodily and mental machines and take invoice. Maybe you need the "shop." In Nine cases out of ten, however, you will discover that you are wearing out your engine by traveling in too low a speed.

Begin today to take things on "high"—even the long looking hill!

CRACKSMEN BLOW SPRINGFIELD SAFE

Springfield, Oct. 23.—Cracksmen blew the safe in the office of the Home Store here, early Sunday morning and escaped with $500. Four hundred dollars in cash in another drawer and a much greater amount which had been placed in a vault in another part of the store were missed. The loss is fully covered by insurance, E. A. Tehan, a member of the Fahien-Tehan Company, said Sunday.

Nitro-glycerine was used in opening the safe and Springfield police describe the job as "neat." It was obviously the work of professionals, they said.

Oat Flakes

Consider how they differ

Some oats are rich and plump. They make the large and luscious flakes you find in Mother's Oats.

But we get only 10 pounds from a bushel.

Some oats are puny and insipid. They lack that delightful flavor.

Which kind are you serving?

Oats supply 16 needed elements. They yield 1810 calories of nutriment per pound.

They are rich in body-building elements, in vitamines and minerals. They hold supreme place as a food for growing children.

Then why not serve delicious flakes, the kind that children love?

In Mother's Oats you get the premier oat food, and at one-half cent per dish.

HUSBAND IS HELD ON MURDER CHARGE AFTER WOMANS DEATH

Springfield, Oct. 23.—In a statement made to her parents, policemen and newspaper representatives, Mrs. Bernard Walters, 19, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. James Garrison, 244 East North Street, this city, said the knife wounds, which later caused her death, were inflicted by her husband.

Mrs. Walters died at the Springfield City Hospital Sunday evening, Walters is held by the police on a charge of murder. He is 22 years old.

Walters told police he found his wife in the company of Brooks Williams, said to be a deacon in a local church and that in an attempt to slash the man he struck the wife instead, Mrs. Walters denied she was "with anybody." Mrs. Garrison told police that her daughter and husband had been having trouble for several days past but that she did not know the cause.

The assault occurred about four o'clock, Sunday afternoon along the banks of the mill race, approximately four squares north of the Sherman avenue bridge over Buck creek.

Favor Short Skirts.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Long, clinging skirts, high heels and narrow vamped shoes did not prove popular at a meeting of the deans of women's colleges in Illinois here. The heralded departure of the short skirt was deplored. Due to the present sensible type of dressing, the good effect of girls' camps and the greater emancipation of women, the 1922 high school girl is a much more vigorous type than her predecessors of other years, speakers agreed.

HEAD WAS TOO HARD.

Cincinnati, Oct. 23—Newport's dark town elite turned a party into a free for all and a shooting scrape at Mamie Houston's annual fish fry in the early hours of Sunday morning. All the shots went wild but one and that richotted off Garland White's pate leaving behind a slight lump. The police dispersed the merrymakers and picked up a flattened bullet as a souvenir of the affair.

THE SUPREME COURT

VOTERS OF OHIO:

The purpose of the law requiring the names of judicial candidates to be placed on a separate judicial ticket is to remove from the mind of the voter every partisan political consideration when passing upon the qualifications of such candidates. By thus eliminating partisanship from the mind of the voter the aim is to secure judges who will not disturb the equipoise of the scale of justice one iota for partisan reasons.

Judge Stanley Matthews is a candidate for judge of the Supreme Court. He has legal ability and the temperament that enables him to view judicial controversy with impersonal philosophic detachment insuring that impartial justice that is the healing balm to the wounds upon the body politic. He will not think of partisan political consequences when deciding cases.

We unreservedly recommend Judge Stanley Matthews for Supreme Court Judge, and ask all citizens who have the welfare of our State at heart to vote for him.

Vote for Stanley Matthews, candidate for Supreme Court Judge on the separate judicial ticket.

SAILING CONTEST FINALLY STARTS

Clouchester, Mass., Oct. 23.—After a day of doubt as to whether there would be any more international fisherman racing, the American challenger, Hnery Ford went out to the starting line with a skelton crew. The crew still plainly resented the treatment they received Saturday at the hands of the judges and racing committee calling that day's sailing no contest.

Some members of the crew refused to take part in today's contest but others were prevailed upon to sail, by Secretary of the Navy Denby, who is shipping as a member of the Ford's crew.

The Blue Nose, the Canadian champion unofficially defeated by the Ford Saturday took her place on the starting line early.

SENSATION CAUSED BY BISHOP'S RULING

London, Oct. 23.—A sensation was caused in high social circles today by the acting of the bishop of Oxford in barring the duke of Marlborough from the diocesean conference of the Anglican church on the ground that his divorce and subsequent marriage to Miss Gladys Deacon, of Boston, makes him a non-communicant under the church laws.

The duke of Marlboroukh was divorced by his first wife, formerly Conseulo Vanderbilt, in 1920. The following year he was married to Miss Gladys Marie Deacon, daughter of Edward Deacon of Boston.

SHANNONS BOOKED TO OPEN SEASON AT OPERA HOUSE

The Shannon Stock Company, an old favorite of Xenia audiences, will open the Opera House season here, according to announcement of the Standard Amusement Company, which is beginning another season of booking attractions for the City Hall theater.

The Shannons, with their inimitable repoertoire and their family of actors and actresses, will appear here October 6 and 7, but the names of their appearance vehicles have not yet been announced.

The local management believes it will be able to offer theater-goers a real attraction in November, when "Shuffle Along," road-version of a well-known Broadway midnight revue, will appear here on the eve of Thanksgiving Day. "Shuffle Along" has been booked through the Erlanger agency and is also scheduled for appearance at the Victory, in Dayton. this season.

Each season the local management has been able to find several good productions capable of being staged here, that are first-water productions. Their efforts however, to educate Xenia theater-goers that they can see high-class productions in this city "once-in-awhile," have so far been unrewarded. When the cartoon comedies with their slapstick nearfun are billed. the house is packed, and the shekels pour into the empty jeans of the booking management.

But let a real, honest-to-goodness stage offering of merit and reputation, be billed for this city, and the show-going public immediately assumes a supercilious attitude and possesses as wise as a tree full of owls. They wink knowingly and let fall the remark that if the company was anything better than a fifth-rater, that it wouldn't be playing the tanks.

This unjust attitude has hurt the local company and at the same time has made their efforts to bring a few live ones here each season, unusually hard. Such first-class productions as "Friendly Enemies." "The Bat," Cecil Lean and Cleo Mayfield in "Look Who's Here," "Lasse's White's Minstrels," "Twin Beds" and other big-time productions, played to a mere handful of patrons while the house was packed for the "knock-'em-down and drag-'em-out" type of offerings.

According to the local management several Shubert bookings are pending for this season, and it is to be hoped that the play-going public treats them kindly. Among them is "The Bat." which will probably be brought here for a return engagement. If it comes it will be a tribute to the persuasive powers of the Standard Amusement Company for the play that has packed theaters all over the country, only drew a sprinkling here last season.

HUSBAND OF SLAIN WOMAN QUESTIONED

New Brunswick, N. J. Sept 23.—James Mills, husband of the choir leader who was found dead near here alongside the dead boy of Rev. Dr. Eward Wheeler Hall, wealthy rector of the fashionable Protestant Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist, was taken to the Somerset County Court House today where he was questioned at great length by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Toolan.

The county authorities are particularly anxious to learn the name of the woman member of the congregation of the church who warned Mills some time ago that the attachment between the pastor of the church and the beautiful blonde choir leader, Mrs. Mills, had grown far past the stage of friendship.

A FRIEND IN NEED A FRIEND INDEED

Writes Mrs. Hardee Regarding Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Los Angeles, Calif.—"I must tell you that I am a true friend to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken it off and on for twenty years and it has helped me change from a delicate girl to a stout, healthy woman. When I was married I was sick all the time until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in bed much of my time with pains and had to have the doctor every month. One day I found a little book in my yard in Guthrie, Oklahoma, and I read it through and got the medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and took eight bottles and used the Sanative Wash. I at once began to get stronger. I have got many women to take it just by telling them what it has done for me. I have a young sister whom it has helped in the same way it helped me. I want you to know that I am a 'friend indeed,' for you were a 'friend in need.'"—Mrs. GEORGE HARDEE, 1043 Byram St., Los Angeles, California.

Let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound be a "friend indeed" to you.

MANY ANSWER PLEA TO AID CHILDREN

The number of letters and calls received at the Social Service League, from those who wish to take a member of the Harbison family of seven into their homes, is growing daily.

Mrs. Carrie I. Robertson, secretary of the League, who has taken the responsibility of aiding in finding homes for the children, received a letter Saturday from a Dayton woman, who wished to take all seven of the children into her home. The woman requested that if she were given the guardianship of the family, she would not object to the supervision of the Social Service League.

The letter, with the others received. was referred to Judge J. Carl Marshall, of the Juvenile Court, who will investigate the families, and exercise the proper jurisdiction over the placing of the children.

CHINESE PRIEST ACCOMPANIES SINGNG OF HYMNS ON MOUTH ORGAN, FORMER XENIA GIRL WRITES

A picture of Oriental customs and the religious beliefs of China, about which Occidentals have often only a vague idea was given in a recent letter received Tuesday by Mrs. Carrie H. Geyer, of this city, from her daughter, Mrs. J. Earl Willmott, who resides in West China.

Mrs. Wilmott is at Mount Omei spending the summer vacation, with her husband and a party of friends, her address for the coming year being at Jenshow, Szechwan, China. The account of the mountain trip as given in the letter is only an example, according to Mrs. Geyer of the many that are received every week or two from Mrs. Wilmott concerning her experiences.

The letter is dated August 6, at the Golden Summitt, and was begun a the completion of a trip along the mounain gorges to a mountain temple.

Interesting extracts from the letter follow: "There is the funniest old priest at that temple, who was very hospitable and showed us all around. He let us eat in the worship room and asked us repeatedly to sing our hymns. So we did. The first evening we thought we'd sing several for him, so we gathered round the table and started in with quite a flattering audience of Chinese pilgrims and chairbearers pressing in ot the doors. He listened a minute and then went out and returned with a little foreign mouh organ which some missionary had given him, on which he accompanied us; Imagine trying to sing "Break Thou the Bread of Life" to the screeches and wheezes of a little mouth organ, played by a solemn old, bulging-eyed fat priest, with all the gim-cracks and gew-gaws of red silk and cheap bangles at one end of the room and a staring blue clothed Chinese audience at the other. It was all we could do to keep our faces straight. After supper he still wanted more so we gave him "Polly Wolly Doodle" and some more lively ones, that didn't demand such straight faces. He kept encoring us with "Fine, fine" and would have listened all night, but we were tired and went to bed early in the inn rooms. They were fairly large pretty dark and almost filled with Chinese beds, wooden frames, straw and matting. We put up our camp cots on top of oiled sheets on top of these beds.

In the afternoon the rain slackened and we went to a famous cave where pilgrims worship called "The Cave of the ine Old Men." We walked into it with lanterns down and down clammy stone steps for a hundred yards or more on each side of us tufts of incense sticks lining the way like grass. It got smokier and smokier and finally we came to the end of the "navigable" parts, where there were two or three gods and an old priest and more incense sticks. The priest lived in there all the time sleeping in the smoke and dark on a damp rock ledge. Coming in we met a bunch of pilgrims carrying dim red candles on sticks going back from paying their respects to the hideous looking gods at the end. There are supposed to be hordes of monkeys around the cave but we didn't see any. We heard some on the way up though.

"The fat priest showed us al around the temple it has several different levels connected by stairs the first being at the top and containing, besides several fine old fierce looking idols, a regular museum of bric-a_brac, among which were a cat and kittens asleep on the idols' ankles, a quartz crystal about a foot high, a gold ball and a silver one like it about nine inches in diameter, an old fashioned country mantle clock. a number of pieces of jade, glass cabinets of figures of the nine old men, a small pagoda model, various dangling things of brass and red, wall scrools and two handsome gold framed pictures of Buddha and the gods sitting in a circle, which the priest proudly pointed out as having come from India (and they did have Hindu characters on them) with "Mellin's Food" emblazoned in the center! All these things were variously draped around the big smiling Buddha and the fierce gods in the center. The priest pointed them out with great pride and was thoroughly delighted when we asked to take his picture among them. That evening he had an elaborate ding-dongy service in the worship room, where he shone in all all his glory in red and yellow robes and finally ascended a throne and donned a gorgeous cheap gilt gown and looked enough like one of the old idols to inspire any heart with awe. They clanged those awful Chinese gongs and cymbols from 3 to nine o'clock without ceasing. Chinese pilgrims came, looked on and went, and so far as we could see there was absolutely nothing in their attitude more reverent than curiosity, while the priest was very evidently more impressed with himself than anything else, in the ceremony. About ten other priests and boys in training assisted in the ceremony, reading in sing-songy nasal tones from the holy books and ministering to the needs of the priest. It seemed a shame to see those boys, some of them as bright faced, (for they are scholars) doing such silly useless maneuvering and the pilgrims—they walk for hundreds of miles over rugged mountains just to duck their heads a few times in front of the ugly old Buddha.

A Stenographer's Romance

BY JANE PHELPS

AN UPSETTING VISIT FROM DOROTHY FALLON

Chapter 78

It was a timid Nellie who took her usual place in the office next morning. But Mr. Fallon acted exactly as usual—after his morning greeting which had been a tender loving one. But he had too much good taste to do anything that would arouse gossip and Nellie sighed with relief when she noted his natural manner.

At noon she told Cora, whose congratulations were so honest (she was so happy in Nellie's happiness) that ellie declared it was almost like having a mother to tell. She wrote Gladys a note, and then she had no one else to tell—unless she wrote to Miss Carter. So she laughingly said to Cora But the laugh had tears in it. She realized how very much alone in the world she was.

In one thing Nellie had to give way to her fiancee. He now sent her from the office early; and insisted she go out with him occasionally in th evening. They went to the theater or some quiet restaurant, not because he wished it but because Nellie would not let his friends see her until she could be properly dressed. She would not be able to have much of a trousseau but a dinner dress, a new suit, and the necessary underthings she could compass in the three months she insisted she must work Then she would remain with Mrs. Roberts a month getting ready.

"She's just like a mother—a good mother to me," she told Fallon, when she outlined her plans. "I am to be her guest for that last month and she is going to help me with my—things.

Occasionally Fallon fussed because Nellie wouldn' take any help from him, but aside from flowers and books she had made him understand he hurt her when he offered.

"I'm a rich man, dear I hate to see you work so hard; do without things."

"I have everything I ever had and more—I have your love now." She told him with an adorable blush.

The days flew by and Nellie anxious as she was at times, saw nothing to cause her to regret having promised to marry a man she considered so far above her; a man whose life had been cast in a society of such different people from her own. She was painfully aware of her shortcomings however, and zealously struggled for improvement in her speech and manners.

Dorothy Fallon had been told of the engagement and had spoken nicely to her, although with a slight degree of hauteur Nellie was quick to perceive. But when she heard her laughing with her cousin as gayly and light-heartedly as ever she thought she must be mistaken, that it had not been meant.

Dorothy had wished him all happiness, saying:

"If anyone deserves it it is you, old dear!" then had ran away, saying she was going to make a visit so wouldn't bother him for some time to come.

"She's very lovely," Nellie said to him later.

"She— who?" Absent_ mindedly he asked.

"Miss Dorothy. She was very kind.

"Of course! Dot is the right sort. One can depend upon her to do the proper thing every time. Then at another remark from Nellie he told her several incidents in which Dorothy had shown particular tact.

"I never would have done that under the same circumstances," Nellie said to herself. "I would have balled things up because I don't know—don't know what is the right thing to do."

That gay little way Dorothy ha yet it held a certain dignity; a coc sureness. Could she, Nellie, ever ho to imitate it? That way of speaki grading her manner—being pleasa but repelling familiarity. Could s ever acquire that? That wearing h clothes as if they were a part of h Would she be able to dress to ca that impression?'

She talked of all these things Mrs. Roberts.

"Rome wasn't built in a day, dear," that lady answered. "Patien and perseverance can accompli wonders. And love makes all thin easy. You mustn't undervalue you self." To herself the old lady said

"I hope she doesn't to him—th is no surer way to cause him to tice her deficiencies."

TICKLESS CLOCK INVENTED BY GERMAN SCIENTIST

Berlin, Oct. 23.—The tickless clock is one of the boons promised humanity through the discovery of a German scientist, who has been delving into the field of oscillation. A selected audience of government officials, scientists and newspaper men Sunday witnessed a demonstration of inventions of this nature perfected by an engineer, Heinrich Schieferstein, head of the Laboratorium Fuer Schwingungstchnik of Berlin.

A noiseless timepiece, which operates without a lever, was one of a number of specimens Schiferstein used to show the technical importance of oscillating power for high speed power engines and in the propulsion of ships, airplanes and gliders. A German-American corporation has been founded in Berlin, for world-wide exploitation of these discoveries. Fred A. Britten of Illinois an American cangressman, is said to be actively interested in the inventions.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $2.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

JEALOUSY UNDERNEATH "GREAT DOLL HOAX" MRS. HAZEL McNALLY AT LAST REVEALS

Mr & Mrs. Frank McNally.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 23.—Mrs. Hazel McNally, acquitted last week in Hammond, Ind., of having murdered her "doll children will file suit for divorce against her elderly husband Frank McNally as soon as her residence is legally established, her attorney, Samuel P. Schwartz announced here today.

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 23.—Mrs. Hazel McNally, acquitted of the charge of murdering her twin dolls, today told the true story of the "great doll hoax."

"You see Mr. McNally was jealous of his divorced wife," she said. "She had remarried, borne two darling little boys and McNally wanted babies to match hers.

"We decided to adopt some babies and palm them off as our own. But McNally wanted to play with the idea so we played it through to the limit. You may be certain that he wasn't going to miss a chance of his former wife not knowing that he was soon to become a father again."

Then she told how they bought dolls, to palm them off as babies until they could adopt a boy and girl from a children's home. The heads cost $2 each, she said. Then they bought a cut glass bowl, so they could use the excelsior in which it was packed to stuff the bodies of the dolls.

"We concluded to have twins," she said, "because our story they were underweight would sound more plausible, for twins are not usually very large.

"About the eighth of December everything was ready. McNally went to work. Later I called and told the superintendent to send Mr. McNally home at once.

"Our hoax was all ready. My babies were tiny and I couldn't possibly let ony one see them. The irksome thing about it was I had to stay in bed. As Mrs. Griffiths, the nurse testified, 'she could help herself pretty good.' "

She then told of unsucessful efforts to locate twins they could adopt, how the dolls became a botuer because they lived in a neighborhood where there were a lot of "old vising me as to the care of my children to make them grow."

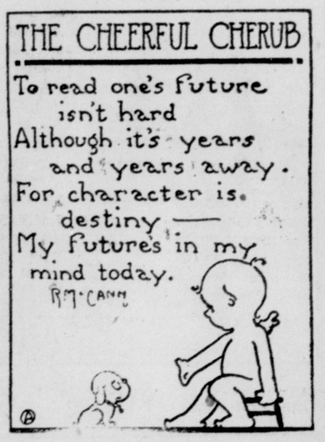

Furtherore McNally held this thing over my head," she said. "Every time I threatened to leave he'd say 'now, you'd better be careful—I'll fix you if you leave me. Don't forget that you haven't babies, but dolls."

Imagination was what the "doll mother" characterized the noises people heard and the blood one witness said she saw coming from the mouth of one of the babies. Later the McNally's moved to South Bend, Ind. Then came the catastrophe. The dolls packed in a bureau drawer were broken in transit. "I left McNally Sept. 22. I didn't know what he was going to do. I don't care. I only wanted to get away from him and his dolls.

"Now I am free and the joke is still on Mr. McNally. But really he got lots of fun out of it. He rocked the babies, wheeled them around in the baby buggy, and fondled them. What more could a man of his age want than doll babies?"

Chapters From A Woman's Life

BY JANE PHELPS

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

Walter Page is a famous artist the object of his wife's worshipful devotion. Yet Doreen, after some weeks of married life, finds her handsome and attractive husband subject to fits of ill temper which his married friends, Grace and George Harter, term "temperament."

One afternooea, while Page and his wife ade returning home from a week end trip Walter is attracted to a very beautiful blonde Helen Ralstrom, whom he finally arranges to have pose, for him at his studio. Claire Gordon tells Doreen that if her husband were an artist she would be jealous of his models

CHAPTER 7

Walter bought a roadster a dear little dark blue car, and I was delighted with it.

"We'll have such nice times riding about the country!" I exclaimed enthusiastically and he agreed.

I had admired his taste in selecting the car, the quiet rich color and the upholstering of a soft dark gray, serviceable as well as pretty. But I laughingly added.

"One would expect an artist to select harmonizing colors," and thought no more about it.

Then I called at the studio. Walter had stepped out for a moment and Helen Ralstrom was looking at a magazine still draped in some soft material in which she was posing.

I spoke pleasantly and she said:

"How did you like my selection, Mrs. Page?"

"Your selection? I am afraid I do not understand." I replied, puzzled, not only by her words, but by her expression.

"Hasn't Walter told you?" It was Helen and Walter already. I had thought it a familiarity and spoken of it, but Walter had laughed at me said he couldn't take time to be formal with his models.

"Please explain," I returned.

"Why, I selected the roadster! He favored a dark maroon but as I expect to ride in it frequently I decided on dark blue. It is more becoming to blondes you know."

Her impudent assurance made me dumb. I couldn't say a word. She had selected the roadster, had chosen a blue car because she was blonde and found blue becoming.

"You look surprised Mrs. Page. But often a model has good taste and Walter says I am very artistic," She added just as Walter came in.

"Hello, Doreen!" he said. "I see you and Miss Ralstrom have been getting acquainted. Come and look at my study of her. I'm delighted with it!

And Conner says it's the best thing I have done. He was in yesterday."

Walter thought a great deal of Ralph Connor's opinion. Connor was one of the best art critics in town, and a painter of distinction himself.

I looked at the picture for a time without speaking. Then I said:

"It is a wonderful piece of work Walter, but it seems to me you have idealized Miss Ralstrom."

"You mean I am not so lovely as the picture?" Her voice was acid.

"Not exactly that," I replied, "but he has given your face a quality I cannot discern, a spiritual quality. But it is a lovely thing, and I don't wonder Mr. Connor praised it." I had seen a frawn on Walter's face. He hated to have me criticize adversely anything he did, invariably reminding me I was not artistic, that I had no imagination,—which was true.

Miss Ralstrom too, looked displeased. She laughed sneeringly as she said:

"So I'm not as spiritual looking as the picture? Perhaps Walter knows me better than you do; he may see I have a soul if you cannot."

Walter changed the subject and I remained but a few moments longer.

Feeling the atmosphere grown tense, my own spirits depressed because of what Helen had told me—that she had selected the car.

Why had Walter failed to mention it when I praised the color? I wondered if it were pride that made him wish me to think it was his own selection, his own good taste, or had he known I would resent his taking Helen Ralstrom with him instead of me, his wife?

But I would not let the fact she had selected the color of the car spoil my pleasure in riding in it. She should not have the satisfaction.
